The 'Frankenstorm' Cometh

Hurricane Sandy leaves another stormy pre-Halloween leaves "giant, tangled mess"

A large section of a pine tree fell across Shawsheen Ave during Hurricane Sandy and the truck to the rear was hit, trapping the driver. Here we get a sense of just how large that tree was. Power lines were downed from Grace Drive to Reed Street, causing widespread outages in west Wilmington.

WILMINGTON—The massive, 1,100 mile in diameter Hurricane Sandy, nicknamed the Frankenstorm, smashed into the East Coast late Sunday into Monday, wreaking havoc in New York and New Jersey, and causing over $20 billion in damage. Schools were closed across Massachusetts, including Wilmington and Tewksbury, both Monday and Tuesday and kids everywhere were concerned Halloween trick-or-treating would be impacted again this year.

Damage in both towns was limited to saw fallen trees (including several significantly damaged homes), downed wires, and debris covered roads.

In Wilmington, Donald Onusseit, the Superintendent of Public Works, said crews are focused on cleaning everything up.

"The main issue today is all of the downed trees. We'll be working on that for a while," he said, noting that many were tangled with live wires.

Flooding wasn't a big problem.

"It was more localized. The rain wasn't a big problem for us," Onusseit added. "It was more the wind and all the down trees that came with it."

Over forty large trees fell, and they were spread out throughout town, in some cases causing accidents.

The intersection of Shawsheen Avenue and Grace Drive saw one. A tree fell on a pickup truck. The driver was entrapped, and crews used Jaws-of-Life to free him from the vehicle. He was transported to the hospital with minor injuries.

That accident ripped down wires from Grace Drive to Reed Street, which, Deputy Chief Robert Richter characterized as a "giant, tangled mess."

Trees also hit houses. Two of them slammed into 23 Chapman Avenue. Another large tree fell near the home of Peter and Diane Harvey.

Happy Halloween

Liz Harvey stands in front of the enormous tree felled by Hurricane Sandy at the Church Street home owned by her parents, Diane and Peter Harvey. The tree punched holes in the roof but largely missed the house, fortunately. Wilmington experienced numerous downed trees and wires in the "frankenstorm."

Remembering Vietnam

By SHERYL WALSH
Crier Correspondent

WILMINGTON - It has been 37 years since the fall of Saigon in April 1975. The Vietnam War marks one of the most turbulent and troubling times in US history. Controversy over the US involvement, the way the war was conducted, prisoner of war issues, and the unpopular draft wounded the American military and American society as a whole. Over 58,000 Americans were killed in the war. Healing took many years and continues today. Especially for those directly impacted.

Dramatic Miceli - Sears Debate

Charges of 'Skullduggery' from one, incredulity from another

By DAN HALL
Crier Correspondent

TEWKSBURY - The long awaited debate between state representative opponents Rep. James Miceli and Tewksbury Selectman Doug Sears occurred last Wednesday night at the new Tewksbury Memorial High School's McGrath Center. The debate was highly anticipated, as it was the only debate held between the two candidates in this election cycle. However, those who came out for the debate and those who watched at home were in for more than just politics as usual.

The atmosphere in the auditorium was tense from the beginning, and only got more electric as the two candidates discussed their opinions. While Miceli and Sears agreed on many

Remember Vietnam

That impact is felt by those who came home and by loved ones of those who didn't. One Wilmington Vietnam veteran, who chooses to remain anonymous, falls into both categories. He served in the Navy in Vietnam during 1965 and into 1968.

He was assigned to two different oiler ships, the USS Guadalupe and the USS Tombigbee. The Guadalupe was a fleet oiler which meant they operated out in open seas serving as a gas station for aircraft carriers in the area. The Tombigbee operated close to shore. They sat just off the coast and brought fuel in during the protective cover of darkness. These ships were fired upon routinely, but this particular veteran strongly feels his own service is of no consequence

To him, that's not the important part of his Vietnam experience. He quickly relates his war experience to his best friend, Edward "Ned" O'Brien of Woburn, who didn't make it back. "Gone but not forgotten," he says using the slogan usually tied to POW/MIA but applicable in so many other cases as well. O'Brien was assigned to the Navy destroyer USS Ozbourn. He lost his life off of North Vietnam in 1967. The Ozbourn was on gunfire assignment supporting ground troops and attacking supply lines. The two men had joined the Navy together. "I still visit his grave site," he explains as he shows a picture he carries of the young man. "He made the ultimate sacrifice."

Three young Wilmington men, who also made the ultimate sacrifice, are remembered on the Vietnam Memorial Wall. Twenty-year old John J Fullerton Jr. was an Army PFC who died in Bien Hoa, South Vietnam on Jan 31, 1968 at the outset of the Tet Offensive. Robert W Parent was born in 1946. This Army PF5 sacrificed his life July 21, 1968 in Thua Thien. PFC Richard W. Welch was killed in Quang Duc when he was just nineteen on Sept 13, 1968.

This Veterans Day the nation thanks the 21.5 million living US veterans for their service. Among them are 7.5 million Vietnam era veterans. It is a time to reflect and remember and to hope for more healing for those who still hurt.

Send smiles overseas

Treats for Troops is back!

By SHARON ADELMAN CROWLEY
Crier Correspondent

TEWKSBURY - WILMINGTON - Whether you receive one or one-hundred trick-or-treaters this year, do not fret; your candy is still in demand. Just ask Kelly Wentworth. The Tewksbury mother of three has been at the helm of Treats for Troops for four years, yielding over 2,500 pounds of candy for U.S. military deployed overseas.

"Last year, we probably collected close to 800 pounds of candy," Wentworth said. She learned about the candy drive four years ago. "I got the idea from a magazine. A woman in Virginia was collecting candy in Christmas stockings to send to the troops," she said. "Originally, I was going to send donations to her, and then I realized that would be costly."

To reach soldiers overseas, Wentworth partnered with Local Heroes in Wilmington, a non-profit organization supporting local servicemen and women and their families. Local Heroes sends out weekly care packages, and to date, they have sent more than 150,000 packages to U.S. troops deployed around the world.

Families of deployed soldiers, veterans, and even volunteers unaffiliated with the military meet at the Knights of Columbus in Wilmington each week for "packing parties." Socks, gently used books and magazines, DVDs, and toiletries will be included with Halloween candy this month for the troops. "It is open to anyone who wants to help," Wentworth added.

Last year, it took two minivans to transport all the candy to Local Heroes. "The candy was heavy, but we've been lucky to have so many people at the packing nights help us bring the candy inside," she said.

Local Heroes is now accepting donations to help offset the cost of shipping. "They debated discontinuing the program because shipping candy overseas is so expensive," Wentworth said. She estimates that last year the group spent over $2,500 on postage.

One look at Google images proves how worthwhile the investment is: soldiers grinning ear-to-ear, amidst boxes of brightly colored candy show just how much our care packages mean to them.

Imagine spending hours at a time in a brown and gray landscape, covered in sand and dust. Returning to a room filled with boxes overflowing with Snickers, M&Ms, Twix Bars, and candy corn bolsters spirits, makes soldiers feel appreciated, and gives them a little piece of home.

Monday, November 5th, elementary schools in Tewksbury will accept candy donations from 3 to 5 p.m.

"It's the little things from home that can have a large, positive impact on the success of our soldiers," writes Louis Cimaglia, Founder and President of Local Heroes, on the organization's website.

In addition to drop-off bins at the Town Hall, care package donations can be made directly to the Wilmington VFW or the Wilmington Knights of Columbus on Wednesday nights. For a complete listing of items in need, visit www.mass-local-heroes.org. Tax-deductible donations can be mailed to: Local Heroes, Inc., P.O. Box 536, Wilmington, MA 01887-0536

Saturday morning the Wilmington Firefighters Union hosted breakfast at the Senior Center. The event was organized by members of the Union at the direction of Union Vice President Joe McMahon. Special thanks goes out to Bill Liston and the Knights of Columbus for allowing the use of their kitchen and to Terri Marciello from the Senior Center for helping coordinate the event for the seniors. The event was a huge success and plans are being made to hold another event in the near future.

GI Bill's Yellow Ribbon Program means more money for education

By SHERYL WALSH
Crier Correspondent

WILMINGTON - TEWKSBURY - The GI Bill became law in 1944. Understandably, it has been updated several times since. One of the latest changes brings important new education benefits to veterans. Specifically, the Yellow Ribbon Program provides a process for degree granting institutions to make additional funds available for fees and tuition. So even if their "GI Bill runs out," veterans can still finish school.

The GI Bill is technically The Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944. The post World War II law provided veterans assistance by funding their education and training, providing loan guarantees for homes, farms or businesses, and authoring unemployment pay. According to the Veterans Administration, few WW II vets collected the unemployment pay. Use focused almost exclusively on loans and school.

The GI Bill was updated in 1984 and 2008 to work for newer generations of service members. The Yellow Ribbon Program is associated with the latest bill, known as The Post-911 GI Bill.

Seventy-four Massachusetts colleges and universities participate in the Yellow Ribbon Program. The list includes big and small schools, public and private. There's a wide variety of degrees and specialties offered. Institutions of higher learning such as MIT, ITT, Harvard, Mount Wachusett Community College, Salem State, UMASS, and Berklee College of Music are all taking an extra step in assisting veterans. More money than ever is available for degree granting programs.

The Yellow Ribbon program is not an automatic benefit. Only veterans at the 100 percent benefit level qualify. Active duty members are not eligible for this program. In addition, the institution must be approved to participate in the program, and the veteran must apply to the school and to the Yellow Ribbon Program at that school.

When President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the original GI Bill law on June 22, 1944, he made a statement describing our military men and women as citizens who "have been compelled to make greater economie sacrifice and every other kind of sacrifice than the rest of us, and are entitled to definite action to help take care of their special problems."

While the year was 1944, the circumstances he describes still are appropriate today. For more information on the GI Bill and the Yellow Ribbon Program, visit <http://www.gibill.va.gov/> or contact your local town veterans' agent.

Advertisement It's Your Money TAX BREAKS FOR EDUCATION

Let Uncle Sam help pay for college. Consider the American Opportunity tax credit of up to $2,500 a year for eligible college students. The credit is available to single parents with adjusted gross income of $90,000, or $180,000 for couples filing jointly, but starts to phase out at incomes of $80,000 or $160,000. It is good for 100 percent of the first $2,000 spent for eligible educational expenses, plus 25 percent of the next $2,000.

Use the 529 college savings plan, too. Contributions are deductible in some states, and funds used for tuition, room and board, even books, are tax free. But you can't "double-dip" and use both the tax credit and the 529 for the same expenses. Solution: pay the first $4,000 of costs from savings and tap the 529 for the rest of the expenses. Grandpa can front-load a 529 plan for young grandchildren, investing five years' worth of annual-gift-tax-exclusion at one time.

Ballot Questions

Voters will go to the polls on Tuesday for the Presidential Election but should be prepared ahead of time to know one's position on three key Referendum Questions.

The Town Crier's position on the three key questions are:

Question #1 - Repair bill

Recommend: Yes

The long-debated issue of having vehicle manufacturers totally control all repair work goes beyond the scope of reason. The so-called Right to Repair bill would give the "little guy" access to key technology to do repairs. Having the motoring public with just the one choice - the manufacturer - makes no sense and gives the auto industry an absolute control to charge what they feel like when they feel like it. There should be options. It's always been that way and it's the American way.

Question #2- Assisted suicide/

Death with Dignity

Recommend: No

The concept of 'death with dignity' is becoming more acceptable in our society, 13 years after Dr. Jack Kevorkian was convicted of murder for his euthanasia efforts. It is time we, as a society, afford something more to adult patients suffering with a terminal disease than a Do Not Resuscitate order. However, proposing such a sea change in end-of-life care through a ballot initiative is an inappropriate use of such a vehicle. We need more discussion, more debate, and more input from the professions - physicians, nurses, and pharmacists - and the interest groups on all sides of the issue. The dramatic commercials offered in the waning days of a presidential election, when most voters have had quite enough of campaigning of any sort, seems beneath the dignity of the concept this referendum seeks to offer.

Question #3 - Medical marijuana

Recommend: No

Several states, like nearby Maine and Colorado, have implemented medical marijuana dispensaries and in some ways their laws appear to be working. However, these states are in violation of federal law, despite the Obama administration's promise not to prosecute dispensaries operating in accordance with state laws.

What we do know is that following the decriminalization of marijuana possession four years ago, drug use by teens in Massachusetts is increasing. In Tewksbury, a recent study by S.A.D.D. showed that teen attitudes have changed, making use of marijuana seem more acceptable. What we also know is that marijuana is a gateway drug, leading to use among some young adults of more hardcore, addictive illegal and prescription drug abuse.

An initiative like this should come out of the legislature, again, following input from law enforcement, medical and patient interest groups, to craft a law that avoids the pitfalls other states have experienced and ensures the intended use, if indeed Massachusetts wants to pursue such a program. With a world-class medical community in the greater Boston area there is no reason Massachusetts shouldn't professionally address the issue with intent and deliberation.

November is Lung Cancer Awareness month

Dear Editor,

Everyone has lungs and anyone can get lung cancer including people who currently smoke, those who smoked in the past and those who have never smoked at all. November is Lung Cancer Awareness Month in Tewksbury. Beginning November first, the Tewksbury Public Library will have a display with information on symptoms, treatments, resources, clinical trials and molecular testing. The Wilmington Public Library will be giving out bookmarks listing lung cancer symptoms. Lung cancer is the leading cancer killer of women and men in the United States, taking more lives than breast, prostate, and colon cancers combined.

In Massachusetts alone, 4,920 people will be diagnosed with lung cancer this year and 3,570 will die from this disease in 2012 according to the American Cancer Society.

I am living with Stage IV lung cancer. I am a four-year survivor and a patient. I am one of the lucky ones because I have a mutation on the lung cancer gene that allows me to be on targeted therapy. We need to find more new treatments for this deadly disease. Come see our display to find out more about this very prevalent disease.

Ordinary people accomplishing extraordinary things

Simply put, that's who veterans are.

BY LOU CIMAGLIA
Wilmington Veterans Agent

Throughout our country's history, brave men and women have willingly answered the call of duty to defend our nation and our way of life. The actions of our servicemen and women have changed the course of history, touched lives and spread freedom and democracy to nations around the world.

As Americans, we owe a tremendous amount of gratitude to our veterans who, during peace and war, have demonstrated a steadfast commitment to safeguarding the principles upon which our nation was founded. Wilmington's veterans have a long and proud tradition of serving their communities after returning to civilian life, and they comprise an integral part of our community.

On November 11 of each year, we reaffirm our commitment to those who have answered the call of duty on behalf of all Americans. Enduring great personal sacrifices, these men and women and their families need the support of our entire community. We are deeply thankful for the veterans who served our country with great honor in the past, and to those who uphold their duties today.

Wilmington's Veterans' Day ceremony will be on the Wilmington common on Sunday November 11, 2012 at 11:00 am.

The Department of Veterans Services also would like to remind everyone that November is Military Family Month, it offers all of us a chance to celebrate military families' contributions to the nation and to acknowledge the sacrifices they make on a daily basis. It also offers us a chance to say thank you for the part they're doing to keep our nation safe.

"As we express our gratitude, we must never forget that the highest appreciation is not to utter words, but to live by them." -John Fitzgerald Kennedy

Sears clarifies sewer votes

Dear Editor,

In both the Town Crier Debate on 10/24 and in the "In their own words" statements of the 10/24 edition of the paper, my opponent, Mr. Miceli, express his understanding of the authorization of an $80 Million bond by the Town of Tewksbury. I shall not speculate as to whether his position is based on his genuine ignorance of the facts, or on a political will to distort them, in either case a correction merits being made here.

Tewksbury had a Sewer Committee chaired by Jerry Selissen, underway for 16 months before I joined the board of Selectmen in April 2002. It held public hearings on 06/05 (attended by 200), 06/20 (attended by 150), 09/12 and 09/26 in advance of the 10/01/02 Special Town Meeting at which a 2/3 Majority (479) was needed to pass Article I which authorized "the Town to borrow funds for the design and construction of sewers in the Town of Tewksbury that do not currently have access to sewer." The article was adopted 675 Yes; 43 No. Tewksbury residents approved the Article by near record numbers.

Mr. Miceli's assertion that this authorization needed to go to a Ballot Question is not accurate. Only issues that over-ride Proposition 2 ½ go to the Ballot. Tewksbury sewer was built in stages. In this stage, an Enterprise fund would pay the interest on the borrowing through user and connection fees. Town Meeting authorized previous stages, whose funding came out of the Town Meeting. On October 1, 2002, the Special Town Meeting needed to vote regardless of which funding vehicle was to be used.

This is because for any project, it is the Town Meeting vote that authorizes borrowing. Selectmen only sign bonding documents after Town Meeting has authorized us to do so. The authorization of Tewksbury's borrowing the $80,600,000 specified in the article was voted, and Selectmen Kevin Anderson, John Ryan, Joe Gill and Charlie Coldwell joined me in signing the bonds so authorized.

Of note, on 09/10/02 the Sewer Committee made its one and only appearance before the Board of Selectmen. The minutes of that meeting: "Mr. Anderson asked if it passes when does this go to the ballot? Mr. Selissen stated it doesn't go against Prop 2 ½, so it doesn't have to go on a ballot. Mr. Gill stated that where this is an enterprise fund, it would not affect the town's budget." Town Counsel was present. Mr. Zaroulis would have made comment if the BOS' understanding of proper procedure was in error. It was not. The minutes do not record any comment from Town Counsel.

What is important to mention in closing is that the Legislature recognized the funding of town sewer programs such as ours as a priority, and that to encourage such construction it passed MGH Chapter 29, Section 22 which authorizes the state to reimburse up to 20% of Tewksbury's annual debt service obligations. The Legislature has allowed the fund to deplete so that this past FY Tewksbury received only $5000. When I become your Representative one of my highest priorities is to fully fund the DOR's Sewer Rate Relief Program.

When 675 voters at the October 1, 2002 Special Town Meeting voted for the Sewer Program, they relied on the Legislature to fund 20% of the Annual Cost. Mr. Miceli is being disingenuous to state that it was the BOS, or any one member, that let the voters down. You know me. As your legislator I would correct the problem at my end, and not blame my constituents.

Doug Sears
Tewksbury

(Editor's Note - In last week's 'In Their Own Words' section and in the debate last Wednesday night, after this paper went to press, Rep. Miceli implied and outright accused Mr. Sears of "skullduggery" regarding the Tewksbury sewer project and the decision to send it to Town Meeting for voter approval. Because of the direct nature of the attack, I am allowing this response per standard Town Crier policy. The Town Crier does not endorse any candidate for local or state office.)

Prochorski completes Navy basic training

WILMINGTON - Navy Seaman Apprentice Mathew J. Prochorski, son of Teresa and Waldek Prochorski of Wilmington, Mass., recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week program, Prochorski completed a variety of training including practical instruction on naval customs, first aid, fire-fighting, water safety and survival, and ship-board and aircraft safety. An emphasis was also placed on physical fitness.

The capstone event of boot camp is the "Battle Stations," exercise that galvanizes the basic warrior attributes of sacrifice, dedication, teamwork and endurance in each recruit through the practical application of basic Navy skills and the core values of Honor, Courage and Commitment. It's distinctly "Navy" flavor was designed to take into account what it means to be a Sailor.

Prochorski is a 2012 graduate of Wilmington High School of Wilmington, Mass.

Gordon receives local endorsements

BEDFORD - As the countdown to the November 6 election heads for its final days, state leaders and advocacy groups are lining up to throw their support behind Ken Gordon, the Democratic nominee to succeed Charles Murphy as State Representative serving Burlington, Bedford and Precinct 3 in Wilmington.

State Representative James R. Miceli (D-Wilmington) has endorsed Gordon stating, "Ken Gordon will help me address our school needs and traffic issues. It is important we elect Ken as State Representative and I give him my endorsement and support. Together, we will stand up for Wilmington's working families."

State Senator Ken Donnelly (D-Arlington), whose district includes Burlington, is unabashed in his support of Gordon, writing, "I need a partner to work with me in the House to fight for what working families in Burlington need. That is why I enthusiastically endorse Ken Gordon for State Representative. Ken and I will work together to ensure your voice is heard."

Other state legislators who have endorsed Gordon include Charles Murphy (D-Burlington) and former State Senator Mike Barrett, the Democratic nominee for state senate for the district that includes Bedford.

"I am thrilled and honored that legislators who know what it takes to get the job done on Beacon Hill have been working hard for my election," said Gordon. "These senators and representatives are known for working hard for their constituents and being available to serve their needs. They know I will speak up for the residents of Burlington, Bedford and Wilmington. When the time comes to stand up for you, I am ready, willing and able. I will not look for an excuse to sit down."

Gordon's fight for equal rights for women and other minorities has earned the endorsements of the Massachusetts chapter of the National Organization for Women, and his support for the environment has attracted the endorsement of the Sierra Club.

"These groups speak up for the rights of women, minorities, and the environment," said Gordon. "I am proud to have them on my side. But the most important endorsement I seek is that of you, the voter. I hope you will agree with the state leaders and advocacy groups that I am the best candidate to stand up and work for our district."

VOTE
November
6TH

MICELI
State Representative

Letters to the editor

A vote for Miceli

Dear Editor,
I have known Rep. James Miceli for approximately thirty-five years. He is one of the most dedicated, tenacious, honest and compassionate advocates for his constituents that I have ever witnessed in any form of government. All these years, he has demonstrated the highest level of integrity. The fire that has burned within him in fighting for Tewksbury and Wilmington has never diminished. In my tenure as Chief of Police in Tewksbury, it was my honor and pleasure to work with Representative Miceli on numerous issues. No individual has worked harder providing assistance with policy positions of the Department of Mental Health when they moved from Danvers to Tewksbury. His efforts on this sensitive matter helped protect Tewksbury Hospital's position as a jewel in the community that continues to flourish today. He was diligent and noncompromising when it came to ensuring the safety of the clients, residents and staff. I can assure you, to a virtual certainty, that if it were not for his efforts and commitment to this endeavor the results would have been far different.

When you go to the polls on November 6th, I urge you to consider sending Representative James Miceli back to the State House. Take into consideration what he has done in the past. Vote for him because you know what he stands for and what we will get in the future.

A Vote for Sears

Dear Editor,
Candidate Doug Sears will represent Wilmington and Tewksbury with dignity and character making them affordable once again.

A friend for more than twenty years Doug always provides his political and religious teachings to those in need. Whether he is serving parishioners in church or representing the taxpayers on Beacon Hill. Doug helps everyone move forward in a bipartisan manner. Doug Sears always listens.

Being friends with Doug has been a positive experience without negatives for me. I know Doug Sears to be a man of strong character and integrity.

Sears has performed well in the Political Arena, on the Tewksbury School Committee, and as a multi-term member of the Tewksbury Board of Selectmen.

The number of Democrats on Beacon Hill created single Party rule which has led to a quagmire for taxpayers. It is time for voters to develop an escape plan that will lead us to complete recovery from the out of control taxing and spending Democrats. That is why we must elect Doug Sears as our State Rep.

Most of our problems are the result of single party rule. As long as this continues Democrats will continue to increase meaningless spending, raise taxes and hurt the people that they had hoped to help. Single Party rule is bad for America.

Sears will present a different vision for the voters helping them to declare their own Declaration of Independence from government rule; helping to return the two Party system. It hurts the low income and provides for the well to do.

Town crews doing great job

Over the past few days, the Wilmington Police and Fire Departments responded to numerous emergency calls, the Wilmington DPW cleared the roads of trees and debris and the Reading Municipal Light Department kept our power on, all during the worst storm of our lifetime. Thank you to all who kept this great town safe. Nice Job!

At Presidential level, time for a change

To the Editor:

There are many reasons why I feel Obama has failed us as president.

A quick comparison of then and now has convinced me that President Obama doesn't deserve a second chance. In 2008, the US unemployment rate was 7.8; today, it's a bit higher. The average cost of gas was $1.85 when Obama took office. Today the cost has more than doubled; and promises to double again if Obama's "green" policies are implemented.

Our jobless rate is 14.7% and nearly 50% of college grads can't find a full time job. Median household income has dropped 5.7%. More than 3.5 million women, many of them single mothers, have fallen into poverty over the past 4 years.

Last month, the Bureau of Economic Analysis raised second quarter Gross Domestic Product growth downward from 1.7% to 1.3%. America now trails Cuba in GDP growth!

Obama has had 4 years to change the course of things, but has only made them worse. There are 46.7 million Americans on food stamps today, up from 32 million in 2008. Welfare spending, fueled by the 2009 government stimulus, has grown from $563 billion in 2008 to a record $746 billion in 2011. The Treasury Department's newly released summary of federal spending for 2012 reports that for every $7 taken in under the Obama administration, $11 has been spent in return.

Obama has added $5 trillion in spending to the national debt, and wants the country's top 1% of earners, who provide the lion's share of federal tax revenue, to bail him out by paying higher taxes. This solution of redistributing income amounts to class warfare and divides Americans at every income level.

President Obama makes a weak case or re-election. He says his policies need 4 more years to kick in. This from a president who hasn't passed a federal budget in 3 years and hasn't submitted a comprehensive energy bill in 4 years.

Four years ago, many put their trust in a "hope and change" candidate. It didn't work, and now we're suffering the consequences.

It's time for Americans to believe in a candidate who will truly move us forward. It's time for Mitt Romney.

Unlike Obama, Romney knows how to run a business and a government. He's known for buying failing companies and turning them around. He rescued the '02 Winter Olympic games from fiscal disaster, thereby saving the US from global embarrassment. As governor of Massachusetts, he eliminated a $1.5 billion budget deficit through spending cuts and fee increases. He didn't raise taxes. He championed investments in our state's public schools. He instituted a universal health care law for Massachusetts.

In Mitt Romney, we've got a tested leader with a proven track record. I believe in Mitt Romney and his vision for America's future, and urge you to cast your ballot for him.

Vote Mitt Romney for US President on Thursday November 6th.

Be understanding of all kids this Halloween

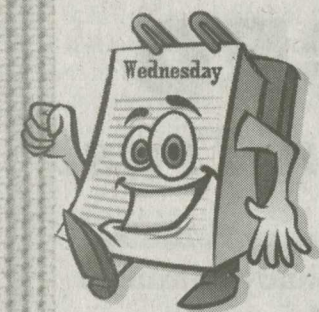

A super big THUMBS DOWN to the lady representing CVS at the Horribles Parade. My little guy was not interested in wearing his costume but was excited to see all the kids and the hoopla of the afternoon. When we reached the CVS station, the lady witch said my son couldn't have a treat because he had no costume on. Poor little guy had such a hurt look on his face I thought he was going to cry. Hey CVS lady, my son is 2! Way to kill his spirit!

In a few days a lot of creatures will visit your door. Be open minded. The child who is grabbing more than one piece of candy might have poor fine motor skills. The child who does not say "trick or treat" or "thank you" might be painfully shy, non-verbal, or selectively mute. If you cannot understand their words, they may struggle with developmental apraxia of speech. The child who isn't wearing a costume at all might have SPD or autism. Be kind, be patient, smile, pretend you understand. It's everyone's Halloween.

More than 20 Shawsheen Tech students pass CNA exam

BILLERICA - Twenty-four Shawsheen Valley Technical High School Health Technology juniors have officially passed their Certified Nursing Assistant (CNA) exam, a state examination administered on-site by the Red Cross.

The test is comprehensive with a written examination of 100 questions and a rigorous practical test. Students were asked to demonstrate two of the following skills: bed making, bed baths, feeding, oral care, obtaining the vital signs pulse and temperature, and demonstrating care of catheters.

Of the 24 students that passed the CNA examination, 11 are currently working in cooperative education jobs in assisted living or long-term care.

"I want to thank the taxpayers for their investment in our life-science wing that was constructed a year ago," said Charles Lyons, the Superintendent/Director at Shawsheen Tech. "These are the kinds of results you get or investing in people. This is what you get back. This is very positive, giving young people the opportunity to be productive adults."

Shawsheen Tech instructor Patty Micalizzi said the CNA is valuable for students as they can begin work immediately in the health care field and gain necessary experience if they are pursuing a career in nursing or allied health.

"These students have demonstrated maturity and compassion as they care for our geriatric population on a daily basis," Micalizzi said.

The students that passed the exam include Wilmington residents Sonja Gilson and Breanne Palmer, Tewksbury residents Sarah Minichiello, Stephanie Conley, Matthew Mann and Breanna Jacques and Billerica residents Amanda Angelo, Brigitte Bartocha, Marisa Carlson,

They believe I have Maine Coon and Turkish Van in me, a rare breed. I do seem to look and fit the Van traits, because I am intelligent, want to be with people wherever they go, like to play, jump, fetch and explore. Some call us "dogs in a cat suit".

I did not get enough love in my past so nothing I like more than to be loved on. I will talk to you, asking for attention. I am a big fluffy cat which makes me a good cuddle buddy and will purr up a storm if you scratch under my neck. I do like to run and play with other cats, but will be fine as a single cat. There's nothing I love more than to sit in my window seat and watch the birds. I am okay with dogs as long as they don't play with me. Because I am not high energy, I make a good hang out cat. If you rescue me, you will be rescuing another because I will gladly give up my spot to make my own with you.

What every man over 40 should ask his doctor

(StatePoint) Annual physicals may not be at the top of every man's to-do list, but these visits are crucial for longevity -- especially for those men over 40.

There's no better time than your check-up to have all your looming health questions answered. Make the most of your next visit by composing a checklist of things you'd like to talk about during your appointment.

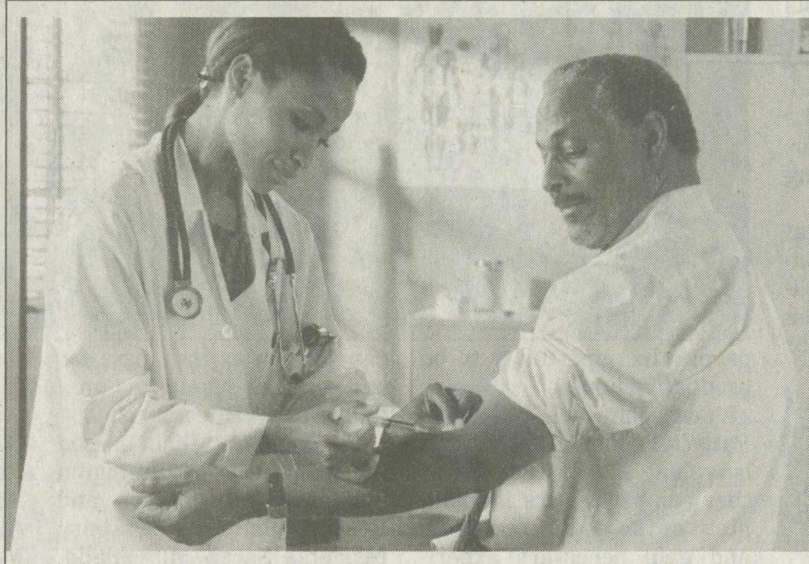

No matter how healthy you feel, there are some discussion points you'll definitely want to cover:

PROSTATE CANCER SCREENING

Prostate cancer is the most common non-skin cancer in America, affecting one in six men, according to the Prostate Cancer Foundation. If you're a man over 40, there are several major risk factors that you need to know about. If you are African-American, or have a family history of prostate cancer, talk to your doctor about your prostate health, beginning at age 40.

The older you are, the more likely you are to be diagnosed with this potentially life-threatening illness, but that doesn't mean younger men are not also diagnosed. In fact, one in every 38 men aged 40 to 59 is diagnosed with prostate cancer. Talk to your doctor about when you should begin screenings and how you can lower your risk of diagnosis.

Be proactive! Visit the Prostate Cancer Foundation website at www.PCF.org for more information on risk factors, and to access a list of prevention tips.

YOUR HEART'S HEALTH

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, heart disease causes more than one in four deaths of men in the United States.

To get an accurate gauge of your risk, be honest with your doctor. He or she can't advise you properly if you don't share all the facts on your habits -- good and bad.

Have your blood pressure and cholesterol tested at recommended intervals. Ask your doctor if your levels are normal and what you can do if they aren't. If you don't currently get regular physical activity, your doctor can advise you on safely easing into an exercise program.

DIABETES RISK

Many people have the misconception that if something is wrong, their bodies will let them know. But diabetes often begins without symptoms. Your risk factor for developing diabetes goes up if you are overweight, have high blood pressure, or a family history of the disease. Ask your doctor if you need to be screened.

In the meantime, lower your risk for diabetes by maintaining a healthy weight. Your doctor is a great resource for helping you form an effective weight management plan.

It's vital for men to manage their risks for life-threatening diseases like prostate cancer, and one of the best ways to do that is with regular visits to the doctor. If it's been over a year since your last appointment, call today to schedule a visit.

US Labor Department's OSHA urges recovery workers and public to guard against hazards during Hurricane Sandy cleanup

BOSTON - As residents of New England recover from the impact of Hurricane Sandy, the U.S. Department of Labor's Occupational Safety and Health Administration urges workers and members of the public engaged in cleanup activities to be aware of the hazards they might encounter and the necessary steps they should take to protect themselves.

"Recovery work should not put you in the recovery room," said Marthe Kent, OSHA's New England regional administrator. "Storm recovery work involves a wide range of safety and health hazards, which can be minimized by knowledge, safe work practices and personal protective equipment. OSHA wants to make certain that no casualties result from cleanup operations."

Cleanup work can involve restoring electricity, communications, water and sewer services; demolition activities; removal of floodwater from structures; entry into flooded areas; cleaning up debris; tree trimming; structural, roadway, bridge, dam and levee repair; use of cranes, aerial lifts and other heavy equipment; hazardous waste operations; and emergency response activities.

Inherent hazards may include illness from exposure to contaminated water or food, exposure to the elements and heat stress, downed electrical wires, carbon monoxide and electrical hazards from portable generators, fall and "struck-by" hazards from tree trimming or working at heights, being caught in unprotected excavations or confined spaces, burns, lacerations, musculoskeletal injuries, being struck by traffic or heavy equipment, and drowning from being caught in moving water or while removing water from flooded structures.

Protective measures should involve evaluating the work area for all hazards; task-specific hazard exposure monitoring; utilizing engineering or work practice controls to mitigate hazards; using personal protective equipment; assuming all power lines are live; following proper hygiene procedures; using portable generators, saws, ladders, vehicles and other equipment correctly; and utilizing proper precautions for traffic work zones.

OSHA maintains a comprehensive website - <http://www.osha.gov/dts/weather/hurricane/index.html> - on keeping disaster site workers safe during hurricane and storm cleanup and recovery operations. It contains fact sheets, concise "quick cards," frequently asked questions, safety and health guides, and additional information in English and Spanish. Additionally, a checklist of activities to be undertaken before, during and after a hurricane is available from the Federal Emergency Management Agency at <http://www.ready.gov/america/beinformed/hurricanes.html>.

Under the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970, employers are responsible for providing safe and healthful workplaces for their employees. OSHA's role is to ensure these conditions for America's working men and women by setting and enforcing standards, and providing training, education and assistance. For Those utilizing the bus are asked to indicate this fact when picking up a ticket.

The event will take place from 10:00 AM to 9:00 PM both days and is located at 13 Branch Street, Methuen 01844. This year the Senior Center gift shop and consignment shop will have a tree on display. This is a great take that you won't want to miss.

Due to the storm, the DJ Jon afternoon dance was canceled this past Monday. The tickets for this Monday's dance will be valid for the next dance scheduled for Monday, November 26th. Those who cannot make the November dance will be refunded.

Those people traveling to the Mohegan Sun on Monday, November 5th, are reminded that the bus shall depart from the Senior Center at 7:00 AM sharp.

This coming Monday, November 5th, is also the is also the date for the Upscale "Intake of Items" Day. Items for the Upscale shop will be accepted during the hours of 3:00 to 7:00 PM. This is a great time to do a bit of shopping, too.

Then on Tuesday, November 6th the Presidential Election will be held. Please note that all programs and activities at the Senior Center will not be held on election day. The Center will be open for the Election only.

Due to several requests for a Country Western Dance, a dance has been scheduled for Friday, November 30th with the John Penny Band performing for the evening. Tickets are now available at $10 per person.

Hopefully, the storm of Monday did not cause power outages or hardships for us. God Bless all those that helped with the storm along the east coast and in our community. God Bless America

Better Business Bureau tips to stop "Storm Chasers"

Avoid scams on hurricane repairs

MARLBOROUGH -- As Hurricane Sandy leaves its mark on the East Coast, The Better Business Bureau (BBB) is reminding those who experience storm damage to take certain precautions when cleaning up and making repair decisions.

Natural disasters like tornados, hurricanes, floods, fires and earthquakes can bring out the best in people, as strangers reach out to help those in need. Unfortunately, crises also bring out the persons who choose to take advantage of the victims. BBB calls these "storm chasers", and expects to see plenty of them later this week as consumers and businesses assess the damage from Hurricane Sandy.

Some of the most common "after-disaster" scams involve auto, home and yard repairs or clean-up. BBB offers the following tips to homeowners who suffer auto and property damage in the wake of Hurricane Sandy:

Check with your insurance company about policy coverage and specific filing requirements. Save all receipts, including those for food, temporary lodging, or other expenses that may be covered under your policy.

Stay calm. Although you may be anxious to get things back to normal, avoid letting your emotions get the better of you. Don't be pressured into making an immediate decision with a long-term impact. Be pro-active in selecting a company and not reactive to sales solicitations. Make temporary repairs if necessary.

Shop around. For major repairs, take time to get at least 3-4 estimates based on the same specifications and materials. Check references, verify licensing and registration, and read BBB Business Reviews at bbb.org. There are tens of thousands of home improvement and home repair contractors that are BBB Accredited Businesses and are committed to fair, honest and transparent business dealings with their customers.

If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is. Be wary of door-to-door workers who claim to have left-over materials from a nearby job or who do not have a permanent place of business. If sales people go door-to-door, check to see if your community requires them to have solicitation permits.

Be leery if a worker shows up on your doorstep to announce that your home is unsafe. If you are concerned about possible structural damage in your home, have an engineer, architect or building official inspect it.

Get everything in writing. Require a written contract with anyone you hire. It should specify the work to be done, the materials to be used, and the price breakdown for both labor and materials. Any promises made verbally should be written into the contract, including warranties on materials or labor. Be sure their name, address, license number (if applicable) and phone number are included in the contract, along with a start and end date for the work. Once you have found a contractor, request proof of a current insurance certificate covering workman's compensation, property damage and personal liability.

Never pay in full in advance and do not pay cash. While many companies may ask for a deposit, BBB suggests that no more than one-third of the job be paid upfront. Be sure the contract specifies the schedule for releasing payments to the contractor. Before making the final payment, ask the contractor to show proof that all subcontractors have been paid (if not, you could be liable).

Disaster victims should never feel forced to make a hasty decision or to choose an unknown contractor. For more tips you can trust and for a list of BBB Accredited Businesses in your area, visit bbb.org.

Certified Cleaning Company

Certified Cleaning Company is celebrating it's 30th year serving New England, specializing in a complete Janitorial Service.

Based now in Wilmington for over 20 years Certified's main focus is in the Wilmington area. A short list of some companies (past and present) that we want to say thanks too are, The "99" Restaurant, Pepsi Cola, Arrow Electronics, The Boston Bruins Team locker room, Arrow Paper, Tewksbury and Watertown Police Dept., FEMA, WCTV and Horizon Brado, the list goes on. Eight years ago we got a call from the Disney Production Office. They were making a movie and asked us to clean their office and all of the locations they filmed at. Since then, we have cleaned for almost 30 films. Films such as Grown-ups 1 & 2, The Town, Night and Day, Zookeeper, TED, Pink Panther 2, Social Network, 21, and many more. We have cleaned for every movie that has filmed here in the last 4 years except one.

Last Friday "Here Comes The Boom" was released and our company was featured in the movie. An exciting new addition to our business!

I think we are successful because we pride ourselves in doing a "good" job more than just on a Monday. We stay focused Monday thru Sunday. We strive to have excellent communications with all of our accounts, and I think that's key.

issues—conservation of the Tewksbury State Hospital property, opposition to a proposed new gas tax that would use new revenue generated from an increase on gasoline to finance public works, the necessity of voter ID laws to be put in effect, and the need to eliminate unnecessary spending especially in the form of health-care for illegal aliens, the candidates disagreed on many points as well. Perhaps no issue brought the two candidates to a boil more than the issue of the other candidate's character.

When asked by one panelist to rate the other candidate's character, Rep. Miceli gestured wildly, paused, and with a show of agitation replied "No Comment." This political showmanship is classic Miceli, but Sears' reply, dripping with sarcasm, was just as snarky. Sears stated, simply, that he thought Rep. Miceli's character was "Wonderful."

Miceli and Sears broke into arguments throughout the debate, and both candidates were reprimanded and warned by the moderator to correct their conduct. One sewer bills, with Tewksbury's rates among the highest in the state, and tried pinning it on his opponent who was a selectman in 2002 when Town Meeting voted to pass the sewer project. Town meeting voted overwhelmingly to approve the project and has consisthat there had been a charter school in the past, which showed that it had worked for this community before and could again. Miceli countered that the school had never actually existed, but rather was simply proposed and supported. Sears then countered by stating for two years due to a flood, and how he had done the work and to get the repairs needed. He promised to do the same with the Interchange project. Sears was skeptical, wondering where the towns would get the money. The project has not received any federal funds for the interchange construction between Exits 42 and 41, despite the support of Transportation Secretary Ray LaHood. Sears said supports the project, but was not so optimistic as Miceli that it would get done under such tight time frames.

A similar argument arose over the dangerous Glenn Road traffic area in Wilmington. Miceli wanted—and promised—an immediate fix, while Sears wanted a slower remedy. Sears expressed skepticism toward Miceli, also noting that Miceli had been in office for a long time and nothing had been done about this particular project yet.

In their closing statements, Miceli stressed his record. "I am known. You know the job I have done here. I am fighting for my constituents and I have never forgotten who has sent me to Boston," Stated Miceli, his voice booming through the auditorium. He finished his statement with a final, "I am known." Before the moderator asked him to stop.

Sears stressed his goals, which were to "Reduce spending, de-regulate, and increase revenue." Sears went on to thank Miceli, and told him he would be excited to see what representative Miceli would do for Wilmington and Tewksbury after he had been defeated and had more time to spend in the areas instead of Boston. Sears finished with a call to "Return Massachusetts to work."

Miceli asked to reply to Sears' statements, but the moderator declined the request.

The election for the 19th Middlesex seat is November 6.

State Rep. Jim Miceli spoke with Bob McKenna after a debate with Doug Sears at TMHS on Wednesday evening.

issue that sparked furious arguments—including one moment when Sears asked Miceli to "Kindly shut up" and later to "shut up Jim" was Sears support for the expensive sewer system installed in Tewksbury. Sears claimed that this was a legitimate issue that went before town meeting and passed, but Miceli claimed that Sears "Pulled wool over people's eyes" and accused Sears of "skullduggery," stating the option should have gone to a ballot question rather than town meeting.

Miceli knows that many residents in Tewksbury are struggling with enormous tently supported the project, even with cost overruns. Last year Town Manager Richard Montuori recommended, and Town Meeting passed, a measure to move half the sewer debt onto the general tax rolls in an effort to stem the increasing sewer rates and encourage more residents to tie into the system.

Another issue on which the candidates disagreed on was the creation of a charter school in Tewksbury. Miceli stated that he could see himself potentially being for such a thing, but would have to see the specifics of the plan before he would sign on either way. Sears countered that he would be all for competition of schools, because competition breeds excellence.

An issue both candidates agreed on, but with some differences, was the stalled Lowell Junction Interchange Project, which would enable the development of landlocked land parcels abutting Interstate 93 in Tewksbury, Wilmington, and Andover. Miceli "unequivocally supports it" and spoke about how delays in its construction would be remedied "immediately." He went on to tell the story of how the Brown Street (or Whipple Road) Bridge in Wilmington had been out of commission

"We heard a big thump and a swish, like maybe sand blowing against the house," she said. "Then Peter came into the room and said it must be a really good movie we were watching since we didn't hear the tree come down."

"Just think of how old that tree is and all of the storms it made it through before," she added.

The storm pierced their roof, leaving holes and causing leaks.

"It was like a shower up there," she said.

Town Manager Jeffrey Hull said that a town building also had a leak, but it was minor.

"Otherwise, there were no problems with roofs," he said. "In terms of town buildings, we were very fortunate."

Hull noted the earlier accident on Shawsheen Street that knocked out power. It has since been restored, and the school, he said, "is in good shape."

"When all is said and done—especially when you look at this compared to other states—I think we're very fortunate," he said.

Both Tewksbury and Wilmington cancelled school on Monday and Tuesday. According to the Reading Municipal Light Department, one of the many locations at which Wilmington lost power was the Sargent Water Treatment Plant.

In a statement from the Town Manager's office, trash and curbside yard waste collection did occur despite conditions; however curbside yard waste collection specifically may be slightly behind schedule due to the storm. Residents with questions regarding curbside yard waste collection should contact the Department of Public Works.

The town is urging residents to utilize the services of tree contractors if they need help clearing private trees and limbs which have fallen due to the hurricane.

The Yardwaste Collection Center on Old Main Street will be open Wednesdays and Saturdays through Dec. 5th, for yardwaste and brush disposal. Resident punch cards are available through the Collectors Office at Town Hall, for the use of the yardwaste center. Punch cards cost $15 and allow five vehicle trips to the facility per card.

The Town Manager wishes to recognize the tremendous effort of the Police, Fire, Public Works and Public Buildings. Police and Fire personnel managed the challenge of responding quickly and effectively to the calls for service throughout the storm. Staff from the Public Works and Public Buildings departments worked late into the evening addressing downed trees and monitoring public facilities.

For additional information regarding tree removal, yard waste collection and the Yard Waste Center visit the town website at www.town.wilmington.ma.us or contact the Department of Public Works at 978-658-4481. For additional information regarding power service and outages contact the Reading Municipal Light Department at 781-944-1340.

Finish regular season with impressive 10-3-5 record

Field Hockey team to face Marblehead in first round

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

For the fourth year in a row, the Wilmington High School Field Hockey team will be making a state tournament appearance. On Monday afternoon, before 'Storm Sandy' arrived, the MIAA released the tournament pairings and the No. 8 seed Wildcats will host the No. 9 seed Marblehead Magicians in a Division 2 North Bracket first round game on Thursday night at Alumni Field beginning at 6:00 pm.

Wilmington finished the season with a 10-3-5 overall record, losing its three games to Watertown twice and Winchester. Watertown is the No. 1 seeded team and will host the winner of Wilmington-Marblehead in the quarter-final round on Saturday, with the time to be announced. Marblehead finished the season with a 10-5-3 record playing out of the Northeast Conference.

Last year Wilmington and Marblehead met in the first round of the playoffs as the No. 6 seed 'Cats came away with a 3-1 home win over the No. 11 seed. Then the 'Cats were defeated in the second round by Middlesex League foe Belmont, 4-1.

The Wildcats closed out their regular season this week posting a 1-0 win over Burlington and ending in a scoreless non-league tie with Lowell, who qualified for the Division 1 North bracket. Interim head coach Leanne Ebert is thrilled with what the team has accomplished thus far.

"I'm really pleased with their performance," she said. "I'm thrilled for the girls that they have qualified for the tournament. They have worked very hard and they were the ones who pulled through and proved to themselves and each other that they could accomplish this goal of getting in."

This has been a remarkable season for the Lady Wildcats, who graduated almost its entire starting line-up from last year's team which finished 13-5-2 overall after going 1-1 in the tournament. Wilmington started the season out strong with a 2-0-2 record including a win over Reading and ties against Lexington and Ipswich. Both Reading (8-6-4) and Lexington (11-3-2) as well as Lowell are competing in the Division 1 bracket, while, Watertown, Winchester and Ipswich are in the Division 3 bracket.

Wilmington finished 1-4-2 this season against those tournament teams. Ebert was asked what her team needs to do to be successful in the tournament.

"We first need to practice," she said with a big laugh referring to the storm. "But I know everyone is in the same boat so everything will be determined in the next few days. But we just need to come and play like we know how to play," she said. "We have to be ready, we have to want it and we have to put it together like we have throughout the entire season."

With the 10-3-5 record, Wilmington has outscored its opponents 33-16 with ten of those goals coming against Watertown. The 'Cats have posted 11 shut outs this season, including the team's final four games as the defense hasn't allowed a goal in at least 240 minutes led by defenders Katherine McKenna, Lauren Fitch and Jacquelyn Duffy and goalie Casey Herra.

The midfield play has been very strong behind captain Meghan Howland, Amanda Richards and Kourtney Bolis, and up front the combinations of Emily Colosimo, Rachel Alatalo and Nicole McInerney have been terrific as the three of them have combined to score 24 goals.

"I got the word out of when we are playing and the general consensus that I got in return is that the girls are ready to go," said Ebert. "And I'm just so happy for them to have this chance of playing in the tournament. They have worked hard and have put all of the pieces of the puzzle together."

zle together.

"It also had to be hard for them especially the seniors, to come into their final season with a new coach. I knew I was going to keep things very close to what (Jodi MacKenzie Campbell) did but the girls didn't know that at the time. So I'm just so glad that this season has turned out to be what those seniors wanted it to be."

Wildcats also draw Magicians

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

A week after capturing its second straight Middlesex League Division 2 championship title, the Wilmington High School Girls' Soccer team added three more points to its regular season total with a 3-3 tie against Burlington, followed by a 4-0 non-league win over Shawsheen Tech played Friday night at home during Senior Night.

The win and the tie completes the regular season for the Wildcats with a very impressive 12-3-3 record.

On Wednesday morning, the MIAA announced the state tournament pairings and Wilmington will host Marblehead on Sunday at 4 p.m. at Alumni Field.

Last year, the Wildcats were eliminated by league foe Arlington in the first round, 1-0, in a game that was settled by penalty kicks. The previous two seasons, Wilmington didn't qualify and the year before that, 2008, the No. 2 seed Central Catholic Raiders sent the Wildcats packing in the first round with a 3-0 decision.

Head coach Sue Hendee was asked what it will take for her team to get out of the first round and possibly make a deep run in what once again be a very talented pool of teams to get by.

"I think if we play the way we are capable of playing, we're as good as any team that I've seen (in the upcoming tournament)," she said. "And if we don't play well, we don't and we'll be out. Two of the three losses we have this season are to teams that didn't qualify for the post-season, and two of the four ties we have this season come against teams that didn't qualify."

Hendee expects her team to be seeded possibly fifth or sixth and believes that former league rivals Amesbury, Hamilton-Wenham and Newburyport from the Cape Ann League will be in the mix for the stronger teams in the section, as will perennial power Danvers and several current league foes.

"I scouted Danvers (on Sunday) and they are always a very seasoned program who always does well in the post-season for many years," she said. "I know Amesbury is very fast, Newburyport is another seasoned team that makes a lot of deep tournament runs and Hamilton-Wenham is coached by the former Salem State College team and that's very interesting."

Another interesting note that Hendee brought up was the amount of talented teams that come from the Middlesex League.

"It doesn't matter to me who we draw (in the first round of the tournament) but I don't like it when you face another team from the Middlesex League," she said on Sunday before knowing that Marblehead would be the first opponent. "Not because it's difficult to beat a team three times, I just think it's unfair to the league to eliminate another team from your division in the first round. It just penalizes the really strong leagues."

"Last year six of the eight Middlesex League teams that qualified were eliminated in the first round, mostly by other league teams and to me that's wrong. I think it's something the MIAA needs to look into - if two teams are tied with the best record, the other team should then face a team from another league, instead of two teams from the same league facing each other again."

In the past five post-seasons, a Middlesex League team has advanced to the sectional title, most notably Stoneham losing in last year's final and Belmont winning it in both 2008 and 2010 seasons.

"It doesn't matter when it comes to records, seeds or who beat who in the regular season or anything like that," said Hendee. "When it comes to the state tournament, you just have to win. We have to take that kind of mentality."

It's been a number of years since the Wildcats have advanced past the first round of the tournament, dating back to the 2004 season when the team, fresh off winning its back-to-back Cape Ann League titles, defeated Wakefield at home in the first round. This year's team could be arguably the best team Wilmington has had - with arguments going with last year's team and the 2004 club.

This season, the Wildcats have strong depth in all areas of play, up front with striker Alex Bischoff, Lauren Amazeen and Ashleigh Howland, in the midfield with Holly Niemiec, Kaitlyn Curley and Rachael Mara, on defense with Lauren McKenna, Kelly Hartsough, Adrianna Kippenberger and Christina Spinos and in the net with the duo of senior Kim Woods and freshman Kellie Souza. Of those girls mentioned just three of them are seniors, and they would like nothing better than kick off their final season in style with a long playoff run.

The Wildcats closed out their regular season this week with a 3-3 tie against Burlington on Wednesday and then a 4-0 win over a very good Division 3 state tournament team, Shawsheen Tech on Friday.

In the tie with Burlington, Mara, Bischoff and Howland scored with Curley, Niemiec and Kelsey Mangan picking up assists. Wilmington had a 3-2 lead before the Red Devils tied it up scoring on a breakaway with just under four minutes to play.

On Friday night, the Wildcats topped Shawsheen 4-0. Bischoff, Mangan, Jordyn Granara and Niemiec all had single goals while Spinos, Niemiec, Kristen Luise and Kristen Tavares picked up single assists. Kim Woods made ten saves in the net to record the shut out.

"I wouldn't say we dominated but I think we just took advantage of our scoring chances," said Hendee. "Shawsheen is a very strong offensive team. I was very impressed with them. I wasn't sure what to expect going into the game because we had only seen them once and that was last year's game. They are a tough team. They apply a lot of pressure on you and they attack with a lot of speed."

Before that game, the team's eight seniors were honored for playing in their final regular season home game. Those eight girls include captains Jackie Kennedy, Lauren McKenna and Holly Niemiec, as well as Megan Priem, Kelsey Mangan, Jackie Parece, Kristen Tavares and Kim Woods.

Boys team gearing up for Sunday's state tournament game

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

In a three-year span from 2007 to 2009, the Wilmington High School Boys Soccer team entered the Division 2 North sectional tournament with one or zero defeats. In '07 the team was defeated in the first round in penalty kicks, only to rebound and reach the sectional final the following year. Then '09 the Wildcats reached the sectional semi-finals. Over the last two years the team qualified again, but were bounced in the first round, first by Malden Catholic in overtime two years ago, and then by Stoneham once again last year, by a 2-1 score.

This year the team is back to having that incredible record it did during the three-year span of competing in the Cape Ann League, and doing the same thing against much better all-around competition with the Middlesex League. Wilmington closed out its regular season this past week with a 3-0 win over Burlington and a 5-0 non-league win Sunday night against Tewksbury during Senior Night. The two wins improves Wilmington to 12-1-5 overall, which includes posting 12 shut outs, an amazing accomplishment.

With that 12-1-5 record, the Wildcats will face the winner of the Reading-Marblehead game on Sunday at 6 pm at Alumni Stadium in the quarterfinal round of the Division 2 North Sectional tournament. Wilmington defeated Reading 2-0 earlier this season.

Head coach Steve Scanlon, who has a combined record of 75-18-25 over the last five seasons counting a 5-5 mark in the playoffs, believes it'll be defense which will determine which teams advance and which teams packs up its equipment for the season.

"Our bread and butter has been our defense," he said. "It's always a valuable weapon to have in the state tournament because you can shut down teams. In the tournament, you're not going to be rolling over teams. We have also managed to start scoring some goals the last few weeks, where that was a problem during the first part of the season. I don't think we're pressing as much.

"If we continue to play solid team defense and continue to get opportunities to score, we should be OK. But we'll see because once again there are a lot of really good teams in the tournament."

In four of the past five years, Concord-Carlisle has won the sectional crown. They are once again stacked and are rated the No. 8 team in the entire state according to the latest ESPN.com/Boston High School Poll. Also in the mix will be league foes Winchester and Belmont, as well as Chelsea, North Andover, Bedford, Pentucket, Dracut and some city teams.

"I expect us to be in the top five," said Scanlon as the pairings will be announced on Thursday. "But a lot will depend in the city teams and if they are in the North or the South bracket. We normally see teams like Brighton and Burke and usually one of those teams enters the tournament unbeaten. So depending on what happens there, I think you'll see Chelsea and North Andover as the top two seeds and then us, Winchester and Bedford right there as the next three."

Wilmington's lone loss this season is to Winchester, a 1-0 defeat.

"We lost to Winchester and I thought we carried most of the play," said Scanlon. "Chelsea is good and North Andover is good, no question about that. I think we can play with anyone if we come to play. Concord-Carlisle has several losses and they are very good but I don't think they are as ridiculously good as they have been in the years past. Bedford is very good and Pentucket is having a nice season. Just (Saturday) Arlington beat (the No. 15 ranked team in the state) BC High, but we beat Arlington 3-0, so maybe you don't know how good your team really is. But I do like this team a lot and I think we're in a good space right now."

This past week the Wildcats topped Burlington and Tewksbury by a combined 8-0 score which extended the team's unbeaten streak to seven. In the win over Burlington, Scanlon said he witnessed one of the best goals he's seen since his coaching days started back in 1985.

"Chris Michelangelo took a bouncing ball from 35 yards out and put a laser shot directly over the head of the keeper," described Scanlon. "The ball was absolutely crushed. It didn't go to a corner; it went directly over the keeper's head from 35 yards out. It was one of the best goals I've ever seen in my coaching days."

The other two goals in that game came from Adam Coccoluto and Peter Warren, both players notching their first varsity goals. Drew Foley had an assist and Luke Foley made eight saves for the shut out. Then on Sunday night, Wilmington topped a winless Tewksbury team, 5-0 behind two goals from Jimmy Murphy and single tallies from Colin Doherty, Drew Foley and Michaelangelo. Doherty, Foley and Chris Saporito picked up assists, while Luke Foley and Connor Zaya combined for the shut out.

That game was also the final regular season contest for the team's five seniors, captains Doherty, Eric Jaeschke and Mitchell DeAmbrose, as well as Chris Palmerino and Peter Warren.

Scanlon milestone

Last week the Wildcats won their first ever Middlesex League Division 2 championship crown and for Scanlon he now has coached a team to a league championship in five different leagues, which is believed to be a state record. Scanlon started coaching soccer in 1985 at Methuen and he guided the Rangers to a share of the MVC Division 2 title with Tewksbury. He then shifted gears and became the head coach at Westford Academy where he won league titles while the program was a part of both the Mid-Wach A and Dual County Leagues.

Then since becoming the head coach at WHS in 2000, he guided the team to league titles in '09 as part of the Cape Ann League and then this season as part of the Middlesex League.

Much more on this amazing accomplishment will come in a future Town Crier edition.

League All-Stars

On Tuesday night, the Middlesex League announced its league all-stars and Wilmington did extremely well. Senior Colin Doherty was named the Middlesex League Division 2 Player of the Year, while junior teammates Chris Michelangelo, Drew Foley, Kory McGilvary and goalie Luke Foley were also all named to the league's all-star team, which basically is all-league status.

By JAMIE POTE

For the first time in program history, the Wilmington High School Boys' Soccer team came away with a Middlesex League Division 2 Championship, after picking up three more wins this week to put the title in their back pockets.

Wilmington crushed Melrose 4-0 last Thursday, Arlington 3-0 in a make-up game on Saturday and then topped Wakefield 4-0 on Monday night, giving the team an overall record of 10-1-5, and a league record of 10-1-4 overall including 6-0-3 against Division 2 teams and 4-1-1 against Division 1 teams, and one to go against Burlington.

This is the second league title for head coach Steve Scanlon in his 13 years of coaching the program, as he led the Boys' Soccer team to a Cape Ann League title back in the 2009 season.

Scanlon, who guided the WHS Boys Hockey team to a Middlesex League Division 2, Division 2 North Sectional and Division 2 State Championship titles back in March, has a combined record of 26-5-9 in the two sports this calendar year going 4-for-4 in championships.

The Wildcat Soccer team started this season off struggling to score, with a record of 3-0-4 in its first seven games, notching just seven goals in that span including three scoreless ties. But in the second half of the season, the Wildcats have broken open offensively, outscoring its opponents 21-6 over the last nine games which seemed to be the difference in taking the small school title or finishing in second place.

"It's cool to win your first one in the Middlesex League," said Scanlon. "We knew that we kind of had a good team going in and I thought we could compete for the league title, especially since the league counted the games against the large school teams (in the small school title process) but we faced a lot of very good teams in the process. We're thrilled with the title."

The three wins this week pushes Wilmington's overall record to 10-1-5 with two to go against Burlington, who they topped 2-1 in round one, and then against a winless Tewksbury team - who would like nothing better than to get the first one against the 'Cats - on Monday night at home.

In the 16 games, Wilmington has ten shut outs, led by defensive whiz Kory McGilvary and keeper Luke Foley. On the flip side of that, the team's offense has been much better lately.

"I think it's a combination of things," answered

Scanlon on the offensive production. "We're finishing and we're creating more chances. (Colin) Doherty has caught fire. And I think the second part of that is the kids who were on the JV team last year, are settling in. I think the first nine games or so they are very tentative and I find that happens a lot. But now they are settling in and contributing."

Eleven different players have scored at least one goal this season, while, Doherty leads the team with eight, followed by Jimmy Murphy with five and Kyle Souza with three.

In Monday night's win, it was Kevin Goncalves, up from the JV team and playing in his first varsity game, netting a goal on an assist from Chris Michelangelo, followed by tallies from Souza, Murphy and Doherty. Doherty took an outlet pass from goalie Luke Foley, raced past several defenders down the sideline before flicking a shot over the goalie's head for an impressive goal. Drew Foley also added an assist.

In the 3-0 win over Arlington, Doherty scored twice and Luke Foley made four saves for the shut out. Doherty's first goal came in the 29th minute, assisted by Chris Saporito. In the 41st minute, Doherty headed home a long throw-in by Kory McGilvary.

In the 50th minute, Mitch Goulet scored his first varsity goal. McGilvary's free kick was headed by Jimmy Murphy to Goulet, who finished off the play.

Two days before that, Wilmington topped Melrose 4-0 which qualified the team for the state tournament for the 8th straight year and 12th time in 13 years under Scanlon. Drew Foley had a goal and an assist, while, Mitch DeAmbrose, Souza and Doherty also scored goals single tallies. Chris Michelangelo, Jimmy Murphy and Chris Saporito had assists.

Wildcats buried by Melrose to fall to 2-6

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

MELROSE - In one of the worst losses in at least two decades, the Wilmington High School Football team - minus several of their top players - were trashed by the Melrose Red Raiders to a tune of 56-3 during a Middlesex League Division 2 Football game played Friday night at Melrose High School.

Holding a 7-0 after the first quarter, Melrose outscored Wilmington 28-3 in the second quarter to take a 35-3 halftime lead. At that time, the Red Raiders already amassed 284 total yards of offense.

Then in the third quarter, Melrose added two more scores to go up 49-3, before scoring another with 8:45 left in the game, after a

Wilmington fumble was returned to the one-yard line, and the ensuing rush attempt was good ending the scoring on this absolutely haunting evening.

Wilmington is now 2-6 with the loss, and will try to regroup this Friday night with a road trip to Watertown - a winnable game for sure. Melrose improved to 5-3 overall with the win.

"Bad effort," summed up Mike Barry, the very classy WHS Football coach. "We just didn't have it tonight and we have to get more focused, be ready to play and play harder. We knew they were fast and we knew that would give us some trouble and we prepared for most of that stuff. I just think we have to come back, regroup and get after it next week."

Without running back Justin MacKinnon, and two-way player Eli Jennings, Wilmington had a difficult time getting anything going both offensively, and obviously defensively. Ryan Carroccino did a nice job filling in as he ended up rushing for 50 yards before getting banged up late in the game forcing him to the sidelines.

Jomikeson Beray, who made a terrific effort to tackle Melrose's Mike DiRafaele on the one-yard line tracking him down on the 84-yard fumble return, finished with 12 rushing yards, 119 kick-off return yards, while he tossed a nice 33-yard option pass to Tim Woods. That pass play set up the team's only score, James O'Regan beautifully booting a 32-Yard Field Goal.

Besides that it was all Melrose, who needed just 11 scrimmage plays in the second quarter to score its four touchdowns. All in all, the Red Raiders finished with 343 total yards of offense, including quarterback Bryan Reale completing all six of his passes for 134 yards, while adding in 45 rushing yards. Nick Campbell caught two touchdown passes, and Dean Anderson scored twice, once on a two-yard run and the other on a 6-yard pass from Reale.

After the game with Watertown, Wilmington will have two very good opponents in its final two games, with Burlington and Tewksbury coming to town.

Volleyball season comes to an end

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

The Wilmington High School Volleyball team's tough season came to an end this past week with two defeats, as the team was swept by both Masconomet and Burlington on Thursday and Friday as the team ended with a 4-14 overall record.

"We struggled this season," said head coach Meghan Sheehy. "We lost a lot of people from last year's team. But then we were very hopeful because we had a great pre-season and looked really good in so many scrimmages so we thought we could have a nice turnaround season. At that time it didn't look like a rebuilding year. We did have some young kids step in this season which helped the team out - a lot of sophomores contributed.

"I think as a program, we just need to be more mentally tough and we need to work on that for next year. It was a disappointing season record wise, but the young kids got some playing time and I think we definitely grew as a team. Our record doesn't show that we improved and looking at it you wouldn't think so, but I think we definitely did improve as the season went along."

The Wildcats will lose two players from this year's team, three-year varsity starter Michelle Woods, and two-year starter and middle hitter Lauren Bennett.

"Michelle has been part of the varsity team her whole career," said Sheehy. "She's athletic, she's strong and she's a very important person on the court for us because she makes things happen and she also directs what's going on. She's been a very consistent player for us and there will be big shoes to fill.

"Lauren was a strong, middle front hitter for us," said Sheehy. "She really grew into that position of slamming the ball when she needed too. She also really helped with blocking the ball, which kept us in the game even when we were down. She is someone who'll also definitely be missed."

The rest of the team will also return next year including Hannah Brown, who really emerged in the second half of the season, as well as Chloe Castellano, Michelle Murray and the Brent Twins, Carli and Christa, who all had significant varsity experience.

"We'll be lacking height on the outside, but we'll be OK in the middle with Hannah Brown and Hannah Reynolds," said Sheehy. "While we do lack height on the outside, we have kids like Michelle Murray who has a great vertical leap which makes up for it. We also have some current freshmen down on the JV team who have some height so hopefully one or two of them can fill that need."

Sheehy completed her third season as head coach, and realizes the program needs to drastically improve.

"At the end of the season meeting, I'll be giving out pamphlets and information on summer camps and programs that each one of the girls can go too," she said. "We also will be starting up a youth program. We need to get the interest going at the youth level. So many other towns have a feeder program and we must start one ourselves if we're going to improve and be competitive in this league."

McLaren sisters three of a kind on the soccer field

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

If the Shawsheen Tech Girls Soccer team is able to continue their great success of the regular season into the post-season, it will be a tremendous accomplishment and sense of pride for all the players as well as for their families who have provided great support throughout the season.

But for the McLaren family of Wilmington, there will be a special meaning, just as there has been throughout the season, as three members of the McLaren clan, senior Rebecca, junior Rachel and freshman Katelyn have been a huge part of the Lady Rams success this season.

After losing several key players off of last year's CAC championship squad, it was unclear just how good this year's version of the Lady Rams would be. But with a 16-2-1 regular season behind them and a high seed in the state tournament ahead of them, they have certainly exceeded all expectations and the McLarens are a huge part of their success.

"The three of them have been excellent for us. They are obviously a big reason why we are doing so well," Shawsheen coach Doug Michaud said. "Becca and Rachel have been doing a great job for us all year and after we brought Katelyn up in the middle of the season, she has stepped right into the varsity level and done a great job."

For the McLaren sisters, this season has been quite the experience, and while they all hope there is still a long way to go with a deep post season run, they were able to take a moment to reflect on what has happened so far.

For senior forward Rebecca, a three-year starter for the Lady Rams, this has been a season beyond even her expectations.

"It's been different because of all the seniors we lost off of last year's team," Rebecca said. "A lot of them had been with the team since they were freshmen so it was tough to lose them. I was not sure how we would do after losing so many of them, but other players have stepped up for us."

Rachel, a junior midfielder and a CAC All-Star, had every confidence that her sister and the rest of the seniors on the team would raise their game to another level in their final year with the Lady Rams, but what has really impressed her has been the way the younger players have contributed.

"I was actually not expecting us to be quite as good as we are, with all of the players we lost, but we have had some of our freshman and other young players step up for us," Rachel said. "Our juniors and sophomores have also done a good job for us."

One of those freshman who has contributed of course has been the youngest of the McLaren trio, freshman defender Katelyn. She earned her way onto the varsity squad midway through the year after impressing Michaud early in the season.

"We had three or four players who we were considering bringing up to the varsity and we finally decided to go with Katelyn because she had been playing very well," Michaud said. "And she has progressively continued to get better since she come up. She is getting better every time out there and has been a great surprise for us."

For Katelyn, joining her sisters at the varsity level was a thrill and the experience has just gotten better as the season has gone on.

"It has just been awesome," Katelyn said. "It took me a little bit by surprise when I first got called up, but it has been a lot of fun. It is kind of weird sometimes to be on the same field with them because we had not played together before, but I have really enjoyed it."

As Katelyn said, she never had the opportunity to play with her sisters before. While all three played Wilmington Youth Soccer, they were never on the same team due to age requirements. Rebecca and Rachel of course have had the opportunity to play together for the past two seasons, and that experience has paid off this season.

"Me and Rachel can read each other pretty well by now, and having Katelyn back on defense now is great," Rebecca said. "We know we have each other's backs on the field."

They also have each others backs off the field. Beyond the support they provide to each other as teammates, their sisterly bond has helped carry them through good times and bad.

"I know they will always have my back," Rebecca said. "If things are not going your way, you know your sister will always be there for you."

One of those times that was not going the McLaren's way at all came midway through the season when Rachel suffered a right ankle injury that sidelined her for a couple of weeks.

While Rachel was somewhat envious of her sisters getting the opportunity to play while she was relegated to the sideline, she was grateful for their support.

"I was kind of mad for a while. I was kind of jealous of them because I wanted to be out there playing," Rachel said. "But they were very supportive of me. They would help me whenever I needed it and did whatever they could to help me get better."

In addition to the team chemistry the McLaren sisters have brought to the Lady Rams, they have also brought some great on field skills. Rebecca is one of the Lady Rams top scorers with 10 goals and 5 assists on the season, while Rachel has potted five goals and six assists and Katelyn has contributed two goals in just half a season from her position on defense.

"Becca is a scrappy player. She runs hard to the ball and she plays as well as anyone out front. She is a hard worker all the time," Michaud said. "Rachel is a great mid-field player. She is an aggressive player just like Becca and she gets to the ball very fast."

It is Katelyn, however, who may end up being the best of them all, which is certainly saying something, given the play of this talented family.

"It is great to have her up here as just a freshman," Michaud said. "She is a very good player and I think she has a chance to be even better than her sisters. We are going to miss Becca, but it is nice to know we have Rachel and Katelyn together for one more year."

And if Katelyn does turn out to be even better than her sisters, Michaud knows that it will be Rebecca and Rachel who are happiest about it.

"They support each other 100 percent, they really do," Michaud said. "They are each other's biggest fans and they really stick together."

And the McLaren's hope they are sticking together throughout a long tournament run. Nothing will make them happier than winning a state title together.

Rebecca, playing in her last state tournament, echoed the thoughts of both of her sisters.

"It would be a great accomplishment," Rebecca said. "It would be a great achievement for everyone, but to be able to be a part of it with my sisters would be great. It would be something we could always look back on together and share some great memories."

Lady Rams gearing up for post-season run

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

WILMINGTON -- Losing is not something that the Shawsheen Tech Girls Soccer team is very used to, nor is it something they normally take very kindly to as their 16-2-1 record this season will attest.

But sometimes, even with the best of teams, a loss may very well work very much to your benefit, and that is exactly what Shawsheen coach Doug Michaud is hoping for after his Lady Rams suffered just their second loss of the season last Friday night with a 4-0 road defeat at the hands of Division 2 Wilmington High.

The Wildcats got a goal and an assist from Holly Niemiec, as well as goals from Alex Bischoff, Kelsey Mangan and Jordyn Granara to pick up the win in a game where they led Shawsheen just 1-0 at the half to improve to 12-3-3 on the season.

Michaud was encouraged by his team's performance against one of the best teams in Division 2 as his team prepares for the start of this week's Division 3 North Tournament.

"I felt like we played well. Their fourth goal came in the final minutes which made it look a little more lopsided than it was," Michaud said. "I wish they had not scored it because it would not have looked as bad. But even with that, I thought we played very well against a very good team."

Wilmington took a 2-0 lead about 15 minutes into second half and began to control play from that point on, but up until then Michaud felt his team had played the Wildcats pretty evenly, and even controlled play at times.

"I felt like we were on their side of the field for a good portion of the game," Michaud said. "After that second goal we had a little breakdown and they were able to get some more chances on us."

While a loss is still a loss, Michaud was able to take many positives out of this game.

"This team does not like to lose, so I think this may have really helped them in a way," Michaud said. "Their only two losses this season are to a Division 1 team and now a Division 2 team that is playing like a Division 1 team. Wilmington is a very talented team."

Freshman goalie Janina Kennedy of Tewksbury made eleven saves in the loss.

In Shawsheen's previous game, last Wednesday they had taken on another very talented team with a home game against Mystic Valley of the CAC Small. Mystic had lost just one game coming into the tilt with Shawsheen, but the Lady Rams were able to come away with a 2-0 victory.

"I don't know if the girls were worried, but I was a little worried about that game," Michaud said. "They had not lost all year until the game just before us, so I do not know how that affected them or what, but it was nice for us to come away with a win against them."

Senior forward Arianna Medeiros scored both Shawsheen goals, with Emily Irwin and Kim Hayes each picking up an assist, while Kennedy made 15 saves for the shutout win.

"We changed up our strategy a little bit and went on the attack offensively a little more than we usually do," Michaud said. "I think it worked out well for us."

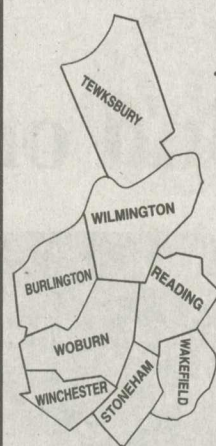

With their great regular season, the Lady Rams earned the top seed in the State Vocational Tournament and were supposed to take on CAC rival Greater Lowell in the first round of the tournament on Tuesday at Shawsheen but the game was postponed due to Hurricane Sandy.

The teams were hoping to get the game in on Wednesday, weather permitting, but the tournament may not end up being played at all, as one of the teams involved is Diman Vocational of Fall River, one of the harder hit areas from the storm. If Diman, or any of the other schools involved in the tournament did not have school on Wednesday it is likely the tournament will not be played this year with the state tournament looming this weekend.

In the state tournament, Shawsheen will likely be one of the top seeds in Division 3 North, but Michaud knows that regardless of seeding his team must take their game to an even higher level if they hope to be successful.

Last season the Lady Rams defeated Winthrop in the first round before falling to eventual sectional champ Georgetown in the quarter finals.

"We have done a good job these past few years of getting past the first round, but the next round has been a problem for us," Michaud said. "We have to improve our defense and play better in every phase of the game if we want to change that."

Shawsheen Boys Soccer team enjoys a win

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

BILLERICA -- The Shawsheen Tech Boys Soccer team wrapped up their regular season with an impressive week of play, picking up a key win over a CAC rival, while playing very well in a loss to a non-league opponent. But the big news of the week for the Rams may have come in an injury to one of their key players just before the state tournament is set to get underway.

The Rams started their week with a big 2-1 win over Greater Lawrence last Thursday afternoon, scoring the game winning goal with just three minutes left in the game, and followed that up with a hard fought 1-0 loss to a talented Ipswich club on Friday.

Unfortunately for the Rams, they lost the services of one of their best players, CAC All-Star Mike Biondo of Wilmington for the rest of the season, as he broke a bone in his foot during the Greater Lawrence game.

Biondo's injury did not prevent him from assisting on the game winning goal for the Rams against the Reggies, however. Unaware of the extent of the injury he had sustained in the first half of the game Biondo played through the pain and with three minutes left in the game, he made the key play of the game with a perfect throw in that fellow senior T.J. Barriss headed into the Greater Lawrence net for what would prove to be the game winning goal.

"It was a great play by both Mike and T.J.," Shawsheen coach Dick Barriss said. "And it is a play that has been very successful for us all year. Unfortunately we will not get the chance to do it again this year due to Mike's injury."

Barriss had been unaware of Biondo's injury, as the strong willed senior played through the pain of a broken foot from early in the first half on.

"For most of the game I was wondering why Mike was not playing very well, and then of course he came through with that great play at the end," Barriss said. "So at the end of the game, I tell him, everybody has a bad game now and then. Just put it behind you and move on."

"That's when he says, yeah, I hope my foot gets better and tells me he heard something crack in the first half. He played eighty minutes on a broken foot. Unbelievable."

The teams had played to a scoreless tie in the first half before Shawsheen's Brian Gallagher scored the first goal of the game for the Rams in the 57th minute before Greater Lawrence came back to tie it with about ten minutes left in the game.

"We had dominated play for most of the first half and then when we went up 1-0 I felt pretty confident," Barriss said. "After they scored to tie it we were actually playing for the tie because that is all we needed to qualify for the vocational tournament, but we got the opportunity with the throw in and Mike and T.J. took advantage of it."

Shawsheen sophomore goalie Brett Battaglia of Tewksbury made eleven saves to pick up the win.

Against Ipswich the Rams once again headed to the half in a 0-0 tie, but this time it was Ipswich who jumped on top, with a goal about ten minutes into the second half. Ipswich then dropped into a defensive mode and the Rams were unable to get the equalizer.

"We never really got a good opportunity to score," Barriss said. "It was a closely contested game against a good opponent, but they got the win."

Weather permitting the Rams were set to square off against Blackstone Valley in the first round of the State Vocational Tournament on Wednesday afternoon as the Town Crier was going to print.

"Blackstone is a good team," Barriss said. "They have some good forwards and a strong defense. There is nothing outstanding in any particular area, they are just a good overall soccer team. It will be a hard fought game and whoever takes advantage of their breaks will be the winner."

The winner of that game will take on the winner of the Greater New Bedford Southeastern Vocational clash in the tournament's other semi-final.

The Rams, who finished the regular season 11-7-1, will then prepare for the MIAA Division 3 North sectional tournament with the pairings to be announced later this week.

Local Sports Announcements

Due to the storm, Monday's Middlesex League Boys and Girls Cross Country Championship Meet was postponed to Thursday. The meet will be held at the Woburn Country Club beginning at 2:30 pm.

Wilmington resident Lizzie McDermott finished fourth at the Catholic Conference Cross Country League Championship Meet held on Saturday. The senior led Austin Prep to a third place finish as a team, as she came across at 19:31.

The Wilmington High School Boys Basketball program is scheduled to have its annual Alumni Basketball Game to be played on Friday, November 16th, at 6:00 pm at the Cushing Gymnasium. The cost of the event is $25 with all proceeds going to the current basketball program. All checks can be made out to: Friends of Wilmington Basketball.

Any questions, you may email Joe Maiella at jmaiella@jhancock.com.

The Wilmington Youth Soccer Association has announced its registration system is now open for registration for the Spring 2013, Travel season for U16 & U18 High School age players.

For further information from the home page of the WYSA website at www.wilmingtonyouthsoccer.org access the WYSA Registration link, or the Forms link and Travel tabs.

Note that Spring 2013 teams will be dual-age teams, with registration and placement information as follows:

Level	Ages	Current	Grade	DOB	Eligibility
U16	'dual age'	15-16	9-10	8/1/1996 - 7/31/1998
U18	'dual age'	17-18	11-12	8/1/1994 - 7/31/1996

Tryouts are tentatively scheduled for the weekend of November 10th, exact times and dates for varying age groups TBD; as they are dependent upon possible conflicts with weather as well as the Boys and Girls High School Soccer teams' League and State tournament participation. Please monitor the WYSA website for Tryout date and time information.

Stephanie Davis named new athletic trainer at WHS

ProEx, a physical therapist owned private practice specializing in orthopedics, spine and sports medicine has named Stephanie Davis of Brighton, MA as Athletic Trainer at Wilmington High School.

In this role Davis will serve as "first responder" in the event of an athletic injury at the high school; she will work in conjunction with Ed Harrison, Athletics Director at Wilmington High and all coaching staff to ensure a comprehensive injury management plan. She will provide on-site assessment and treatment in the event of an injury.

Prior to joining Pro Ex Physical Therapy, Davis was the Athletic Trainer at Coyle Cassidy High School in Taunton, MA. Previous posts were as Rehabilitation Technician/Athletic Trainer at Beverly Hospital and as Athletic Trainer at M.I.T.

In addition to her position as Athletic Trainer at Wilmington High School, Davis will also act as an Exercise Technician at the ProEx Woburn location at 300 TradeCenter; her wide-range of responsibilities in this role includes assisting staff Physical Therapists with patient care.

Davis received her undergraduate degree in Health Sciences from the University of Central Florida and a Master's degree in Education and Sport Psychology from Boston University.

Originally from Winter Park FL, Davis now lives in Brighton where in her spare time she likes to travel and enjoy sporting events. She has volunteered at both the JCC Triathlon by the Sea and the Boston Marathon, providing medical services at the finish line and the medical tent.

"We're more than pleased to have Stephanie on our team as both Athletic Trainer at Wilmington High and as an Exercise Technician in our active Woburn clinic," said James Shea, Clinic Manager. "Her vast experience combined with outstanding clinical and communication skills, make her the perfect choice to fill these vital posts within our organization."

The Wilmington High School Boys Soccer team has been busy in action lately, with Austin O'Neal, above, and Chris Saporito, below, both chipping in to the team's success. (photos by JoeBrownphotos.com).

With the announcement that Amtrak's Downeaster service to Freeport will start chugging into the station on Nov. 1, the small Maine town is eagerly anticipating an economic shot in the arm many feel the train will bring.

"We're so excited about (the Downeaster's arrival)," said Janet Dutson, the executive director of FreeportUSA, the local merchants' group.

The Northern New England Passenger Rail Authority, which operates the Downeaster, has announced the expanded train service will kick off November 1 with two-round trips between Brunswick and Boston each day.

The Downeaster currently makes five daily round-trips between Maine, New Hampshire, and Massachusetts to 10 destinations: Portland, Old Orchard Beach, Saco and Wells in Maine; Durham-UNH and Exeter; and Haverhill, Woburn and Boston, in Massachusetts.

UNH Campus Planning Director Stephen Pesci is organizing an inaugural party for the new services.

UNH and the Dairy Bar will provide refreshments and music at the event. Souvenirs and gifts will be given away upon the 10:41 a.m. train arrival, and attendants will have the opportunity to meet with members of the Rail Authority.

The extension provides members of the UNH-Durham community with access to more of Maine, and to connect with places such as Bowdoin College in Brunswick and L.L. Bean in Freeport.

According to a release from the rail authority, the schedule was developed to provide day-trip options for both southbound and northbound travelers.

Southbound travelers will be able to depart Brunswick at 7:05 a.m. daily (7:20 a.m. in Freeport), arriving in Boston at 10:30 a.m., then catch a northbound train at 5 p.m. on weekdays

Leave from Woburn and head to Freeport and Brunswick Maine Downeaster expands service north returning to Freeport at 8:05 p.m. and Brunswick at 8:25 p.m.

Northbound travelers can depart Boston at 9:05 a.m. on weekdays, arriving in Freeport at 12:10 p.m. and Brunswick at 12:25 p.m., then catch a 6:05 p.m. southbound train from Freeport, returning to Boston at 9:15 p.m.

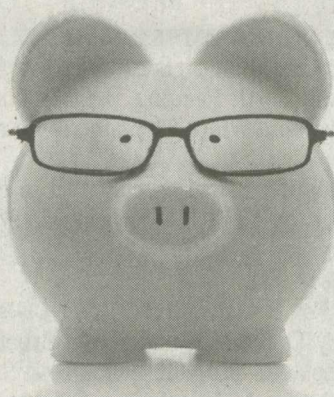

Weekend and holiday schedules will vary slightly, though there will still be two trips from Brunswick and Freeport on those days.

According to the rail authority, the Downeaster has experienced strong ridership for the past seven years, and has seen passenger numbers more than double since 2005, exceeding 528,000 riders this year. Downeaster service to Freeport and Brunswick is expected to generate more than 30,000 new riders annually.

The Downeaster's operator, Northern New England Passenger Rail Authority, has modernized 30 miles of track, installed 33,000 ties, upgraded 36 crossings and constructed two train platforms between Portland and Brunswick. The project cost roughly $38.8 million and was funded mostly by the American Recovery and Rehabilitation Act. "Expanding service to Freeport and Brunswick ... will improve connectivity to mid-coast Maine, increase tourism and continue to stimulate economic development in the region," Martin Eisenstein, NNEPRA's board chairman, said in a press release.

Currently, the Downeaster makes five daily runs between

by Paul Feely

"Cloud Atlas" filled with action and mystery

"CLOUD ATLAS" is an uneven but visually stunning adaptation of David Mitchell's novel. It's an epic that mixes genres and big ideas. Tom Hanks and Halle Berry star.

"CLOUD ATLAS"
GRADE: **

Extremely ambitious, 'Cloud Atlas' feels like about a dozen movies rolled into one.

Cloud Atlas explores how the actions and consequences of individual lives impact one another throughout the past, the present and the future.

Action, mystery and romance weave dramatically through the story as one soul is shaped from a killer into a hero and a single act of kindness ripples across centuries to inspire a revolution in the distant future. Each member of the ensemble appears in multiple roles as the stories move through time.

This uneven but visually stunning adaptation of David Mitchell's novel was directed by a trio of acclaimed filmmakers, including siblings Andy and Lana Wachowski (The Matrix) and Tom Tykwer (Run Lola Run).

It's an epic that mixes genres and big ideas, dealing with concepts such as evolution, reincarnation, quantum physics and the cosmic order of the universe. Those sorts of aspirations come with a price tag, but at least the film compensates by becoming both provocative and entertaining.

The movie cuts between more than a half-dozen storylines, ranging in setting from the mid-19th century to a vision of the future circa the year 2350. There are certain thematic links that are present throughout the film, and oddly enough, so are the same actors.

Tom Hanks, Halle Berry, Jim Broadbent, Jim Sturgess, Hugo Weaving, Susan Sarandon and Hugh Grant are among those who employ a variety of prosthetics and accents to portray different characters, both good and evil, who appear either throughout the film or might pop up only briefly with or without explanation.

Cloud Atlas is episodic by nature, with some sections more compelling than others (a recurring post-apocalyptic segment featuring Hanks and Berry babbling almost in tongues could have been shortened). There are moments of wicked humor, shocking violence and dazzling special effects as the film blends together elements of action, mystery, science fiction and romance.

The nonlinear nature of the screenplay requires the filmmakers to do a constant narrative juggling act, and the result might leave viewers confused as they try to connect the dots and piece together various chronologies, especially with the constantly shifting narration and point of view. The final hour is more tightly focused for those who can hang in there.

The gimmick of casting the same actors in multiple roles yields a mixed bag, with the familiarity of the faces sometimes serving as more of a distraction than anything else. However, it is a technical triumph in terms of editing, set design, costumes, and makeup.

The project is unpredictable, and isn't afraid to risk polarizing audiences. Cloud Atlas isn't different merely for the sake of being different. It's a challenging film that leaves itself open for interpretation, an opportunity more films should take advantage of.

"ALEX CROSS"
GRADE: **

The film 'Alex Cross' follows the young homicide detective/psychologist (Tyler Perry), from the worldwide best-selling novels by James Patterson, as he meets his match in a serial killer (Matthew Fox). The two face off in a high-stakes game of cat and mouse, but when the mission gets personal, Cross is pushed to the edge of his moral and psychological limits in this taut and exciting action thriller.

The film resurrects a character previously played by Morgan Freeman (in Kiss the Girls and Along Came a Spider), and lets Tyler Perry take a shot at starring in his own action franchise.

The plot pits Cross, a homicide detective and psychologist, against Picasso (Fox) in a cat-and-mouse game involving torture murders and civic renewal. Turns out a scheme to revive downtown Detroit won't work unless a sadistic serial killer can steal a computer by cutting off a party girl's fingers.

That's the kind of logic at work in Alex Cross, which also includes several scenes of deductive reasoning that may leave even Sherlock Holmes confused. Cross can walk into a crime scene and - based on something or other - figure out exactly what happened.

By the end of the film, Cross is ready to join the FBI (he praises the agency's dental plan to Kane), leaving open the possibility of a sequel. Some reports say a deal for Double Cross is being hammered out; Perry's fans may hope he returns to play 'Madea' instead.

PERMACULTURE IN READING

Mulch to mull over here.

"The first thing you notice, approaching an otherwise unassuming house in the center of Reading, is the corn in the front yard. It is tall and green and graceful, and front and center for all to see," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Reading Garden Club member Lydia Silva planted corn in the front yard because the house faces south, and corn needs a lot of sun. And all the neighbors love it. Though the corn has all been harvested now, 'it was a frequent topic of conversation at neighbors' dinner tables, apparently,' says Lydia with a giggle.

"Lydia practices a rapidly growing discipline of gardening called permaculture.

"Permaculture embraces two major components: water conservation and ecological balance. The permaculture principal can be summed up in a well-known quote by permaculture founder Bill

About the Towns

by Phyllis Nissen

A BUNCH OF CORN, A BIT OF ORANGE - OCTOBER'S END

Mollison, 'You don't have a snail problem, you have a duck deficiency!' In permaculture, every garden problem has a biological solution.

"Lydia has a very large vegetable garden; it covers her front, side, and back yards. Yet even in the hottest periods this hot summer, she watered from her multiple rain barrels only once a week, with nothing wilting or struggling. Her secret? Lots of mulch. But not just any mulch; certainly not the ubiquitous red bark mulch so loved locally; 'It has red dye not suitable for vegetables, and it's not good for our water runoff.'

"Recently she added a new feature to the garden: two domestic rabbits in what used to be a dog run. Their droppings go into the garden, and they eat all kinds of garden leftovers. She calls it her 'bunny biosphere.' Her next step is to add a worm bin, because the worms help further break down the rabbit droppings and add even more nourishment and moisture from their secretions.

"In the immediate future though, she will be teaching these techniques to other gardeners, through Umass Amherst in December, Lasell College starting in January, and Suffolk University in May or June of 2013...."

THE ORANGE LINE IN WOBURN

Well, it's a Woburn haunt so its colors must be orange and black.

On the 27th, Woburn dedicated a memorial in recognition of the 50th anniversary of the acquisition of the Woburn Parkway by the city.

The ceremony recognized the efforts of former Mayor John F. Gilgun, Jr. in advocating for special legislation allowing for the conveyance of the property to the city in 1961. Mayor Gilgun was expected to attend the ceremony.

According to Woburn City Clerk William C. Campbell, organizers hoped that all could join the community "in recognizing this historic milestone of a valuable community resource which continues to be a premier year-round passive recreational area for the citizens of Woburn."

NO TRICKS HERE, JUST TREAT IN WILMINGTON

"New Town Manager Jeffrey Hull didn't have to go far," notes the Wilmington "Town Crier."

"He just had to change offices. Hull, who had been Wilmington's Assistant Town Manager since November of 1987, recently replaced outgoing Town Manager Michael Cairra.

"Hull told the Crier that his selection 'sent a message' that the Board of Selectmen had confidence in his abilities. They could have gone through a screening process, he said. But they didn't.

"Really, it was gratifying that the Board considered me the immediate choice,' he said.

"The job was a fulfillment of a dream" for the North Adams native who moved to Wilmington in 1987...."

Hull is eager to give the position his full commitment.

•MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA:

In 1920 the American Professional Football Association was formally organized. The league's name was changed in 1922 to the National Football League. Only two teams remain in existence today that competed in the APFA in its inaugural season. Who are they?

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

•JUNIOR RACHEL MCCARTHY (READING)

was named the Player of the Year and senior Sarah Wilcox (Old Town, Maine) was named the Defensive Player of the Year as the Northeast-10 Conference announced its All-Conference teams and major award winners.

McCarthy and Wilcox were also named to the All-Conference First Team while junior Melissa Effertz (Oceanside, Calif.) also earned First Team honors. Sophomore Bianca Jones (Watertown, Mass.) was cited to the Second Team.

McCarthy makes her second straight appearance on the First Team while Wilcox was a Second Team member and Jones an All-Rookie Team honoree last season.

Effertz earned the honor for the first time.

UMass Lowell, with a 15-3 overall record (8-2 in the NE-10), received the No. 3 seed for the NE-10 Tournament and hosts No. 6 Stonehill Wednesday at 7:00.

McCarthy has enjoyed a magnificent season with a Conference-best 23 goals — nearly one third of UMass Lowell's output — along with six assists (52 points). She has figured into the scoring in five of UMass Lowell's last six matches, including two goals and two assists in a 4-0 win at Adelphi as well as two goals in a 9-1 victory over Franklin Pierce.

Athletes & Activities

by Paul Feely

McCarthy currently ranks fourth among UMass Lowell's all-time scorers with 53 goals and 35 assists (141 points).

"Rachel's ability to score, create and see the field makes her a very rare player at this level," said head coach Shannon Hlebichuk. "She is a multidimensional player who controls our attack from the midfield and forward lines. It is quite an honor to be named Player of the Year as a junior, which reflects the respect she has from the Conference."

Wilcox has led a defense which has compiled nine shutouts and limited opponents to 0.82 goals per match, which currently tops all NE-10 schools.

Wilcox has also added significant offense with five goals and 13 assists, the latter ranking tops among NE-10 leaders.

"Sarah will graduate as one of the best defenders I've coached in more than a decade," said Hlebichuk. "She is the key component to our defensive unit in limiting the best attackers in the Conference to very few shots each game. It was nice to see her to have a breakout year offensively, which goes to show how versatile she is."

Effertz has also scored in clusters this season with 13 goals and nine assists, good for fourth among NE-10 scoring leaders. She registered back-to-back hat tricks in victories over Saint Anselm (6-0) and Southern Connecticut (6-4) to earn NE-10 Player of the Week honors.

"Melissa stood out this year because of her speed on the attack and her ability to finish," Hlebichuk said. "She has been a consistent contributor over the past two seasons and her recognition is well-deserved."

Jones has also been a consistent scoring threat with nine goals and three assists. She scored three of UMass Lowell's four goals in a 4-1 victory over Bellarmine on Oct. 13. On Saturday, she had one goal and one assist in a 4-0 win at American International.

"To be recognized on the Second Team as a sophomore is a terrific accomplishment," Hlebichuk noted. "Bianca has played wherever we've needed her to play and done very well. That speaks to her abilities as a player."

•JUNIOR FORWARD JOSEPH PENDENZA (WILMINGTON)

scored on a rebound midway through the third period and junior goalie Doug Carr (Hanover, Mass.) stopped 27 shots as ninth-ranked UMass Lowell picked up its first win of the season defeating #19 Colorado College, 3-1, at the World Arena.

Pendoza drilled the puck into the back of the CC net, at the 7:16 mark of the third period, after a rush by junior F Josh Holmstrom (Colorado Springs, Co.) had forced the puck to the front of the net. CC goalie Josh Thorimbert stopped Holmstrom's bid but could get across the net front before Pendenza pulled the trigger. Freshman A. J. White (Dearborn, Mich.) also picked up an assist, his first collegiate point.

The River Hawks never trailed in the hockey game. Freshman Ryan McGrath (O'Fallon, Mo.) put UMass Lowell on top at the 10:27 mark of the first period in electrifying fashion. McGrath took a pass from freshman defenseman Greg Amlong (O'Fallon, Mo.) in the neutral zone and danced past two CC defenders just inside the blue line before snapping the puck into the upper left corner of the CC net.

Sophomore center Stephen Bucu (North Providence, R. I.) finished the River Hawks scoring sliding the puck into an empty Colorado College with 30 seconds remaining on the clock. The goal was unassisted; Bucu had forced a turnover in the neutral zone after the Tigers had pulled their net minder in favor of a sixth attacker.

Carr turned in a sparkling performance at the River Hawk end of the ice. The UMass Lowell goaltender turned aside 27 of 28 shots including a couple spectacular stops from point blank range.

Colorado College's only goal came in the second period when defenseman Aaron Harstad fired a shot through a crowd of bodies in front of the net, off the left post, and into the back of the net. The goal tied the game at one and set the stage for Pendenza's heroics.

•Need some help with the trivia question? The answer is not the Patriots or the Bills.

•CARLIE TARBELL (WAKEFIELD)

a sophomore goalkeeper on the 22nd-ranked University of New Hampshire field hockey team, was named America East Defensive Player of the Week on Oct. 22. She received the same accolade Oct. 9.

Tarbell stopped 19 of 20 shots last week for a 0.47 GAA and .950 save percentage to backbone the Wildcats to victories against 13th-ranked Boston University (1-0; Oct. 19) and Providence College (2-1 in overtime; Oct. 21).

She recorded her first career shutout with a nine-save effort vs. BU to help the 'Cats secure at least a share of the America East conference regular-season title for the third consecutive year.

Tarbell followed that with 10 saves in the overtime win at Providence in which she made seven stops in the first half. It marked the second time in three games and third time this season that she recorded double digits in saves.

Tarbell received her prior Defensive Player of the Week award following a seven-save effort in an Oct. 5 win vs. University at Albany and career-high 12-save effort at fifth-ranked University of Virginia (Oct. 7).

In 16 games this season (all starts), Tarbell has a 9-7 record with a 2.21 GAA and .740 save percentage. She ranks second in the America East conference in both saves (108) and saves per game (6.75) as well as save percentage (.740).

In four conference games, she is 4-0 with a league-leading 1.12 GAA and .844 save percentage. Her other season highlights include nine-save efforts against second-ranked Syracuse University (3-2 loss), seventh-ranked Northeastern University (3-2 double overtime win) and Fairfield University (3-2 double OT win).

•ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION:

The Cardinals and the Bears.

Downeaster

from S-1

Portland and Boston, and the extended service will include stops in Freeport as well as Brunswick. It'll be the first time in 52 years that Brunswick has had regular passenger train service, according to the Associated Press.

Amtrak Downeaster ridership rose to record heights in 2011-12 with nearly 530,000 riders in the fiscal year, according to the organization which manages the Portland-to-Boston train service.

Patricia Quinn — executive director of the Northern New England Passenger Rail Authority, or NNEPRA, the organization which oversees the Downeaster service — told the Bangor Daily News that ridership has climbed steadily for seven consecutive years, weathering tumultuous fluctuations in gas prices and the global economy.

Quinn said she expects Downeaster ridership to continue growing. She also noted a more aggressive advertising campaign — using the rhyme "Train to Maine" and featuring the state's natural coast, shopping, seafood and other attractions — on the Boston side of the connection.

"About 86 percent of our passengers use the service because they want to go to Boston," Quinn said. "Adding stops in Freeport and Brunswick will give more people reasons to come from Boston to Maine as well."

The 528,292 riders who used the Downeaster from July 2011 to June 2012 tops the previous record ridership of 509,986 — set a year earlier in 2010-11 — by 4 percent, according to a NNEPRA announcement Tuesday.

Fiscal year 2011-12 ticket revenues climbed to a new high of $7.4 million as well, Quinn announced. Both ridership and ticket revenue numbers for the most recent fiscal year were more than double what they were in fiscal year 2004-05, according to the NNEPRA announcement.

Ticket revenues cover approximately 55 percent of the Downeaster's operating expenses, with the rest offset by government subsidies, including about $6 million in annual U.S. Department of Transportation funding.

Since the Downeaster service began in 2001, the train has transported a total of about 4 million passengers — equaling more than 325 million passenger miles — and generated more than $56 million in ticket revenue.

A big part of the train's on-board success are a couple of ideas imported from other corridors.

Long a success in North Carolina on the Carolinian and Piedmont, each Downeaster train is assigned at least one knowledgeable volunteer from Train Riders Northeast (the organization instrumental in creating awareness and political support in the first place) who greets passengers, explains where the café car is located, and offers transit and hospitality information about intermediate stops along the way.

For fares, schedules, and booking visit www.amtrak.com or 1-800-USA-RAIL. The service has its own web site as well, www.thedowneaster.com.

Prices From S-8

some of the worst price declines during the housing crisis are starting to come back. Prices in Las Vegas rose 0.9 percent, the first year-over-year gain since January 2007. Prices in Phoenix are 18.8 percent higher in August than a year ago. Home values in Tampa and Miami have also posted solid increases over the period.

Seattle was the only city to report a monthly decline. Still, prices there fell just 0.1 percent in August from July and are 3.4 percent higher than a year ago.

Prices in Atlanta have fallen 6.1 percent over the 12 months that ended in August, the largest year-over-year decline. But Atlanta has posted the largest price gain among the 20 cities over the past three months, according to Trulia, a housing data analysis firm.

"The sustained good news in home prices over the past five months makes us optimistic for continued recovery in the housing market," David Blitzer, chairman of the Case-Shiller index, said.

The steady increase in prices, along with the lowest mortgage rates in decades, has helped many home markets slowly rebound nearly six years after the housing bubble burst.

Rising home prices encourage more people to put their homes on the market. They may also entice would-be buyers to purchase homes before prices rise further.

The S&P/Case-Shiller index covers roughly half of U.S. homes. It measures prices compared with those in January 2000 and creates a three-month moving average. The August figures are the latest available.

The figures aren't seasonally adjusted, so some of the gains in August reflect the benefit of the summer buying season.

Stan Humphries, chief economist at the housing website Zillow, expects the monthly price figures will decline in the fall and winter.

"This doesn't mean the housing recovery has been derailed," he said. "This is exactly what bouncing along bottom looks like."

Other recent reports show that the housing market is improving, albeit from depressed levels.

Home builders started construction on new homes and apartments at the fastest pace in more than four years last month. They also requested the most building permits in four years, a sign that many are confident that home sales gains will continue. Home building is still far below the pace that economists say is consistent with a healthy housing market.

This Week's Sampler: Albany

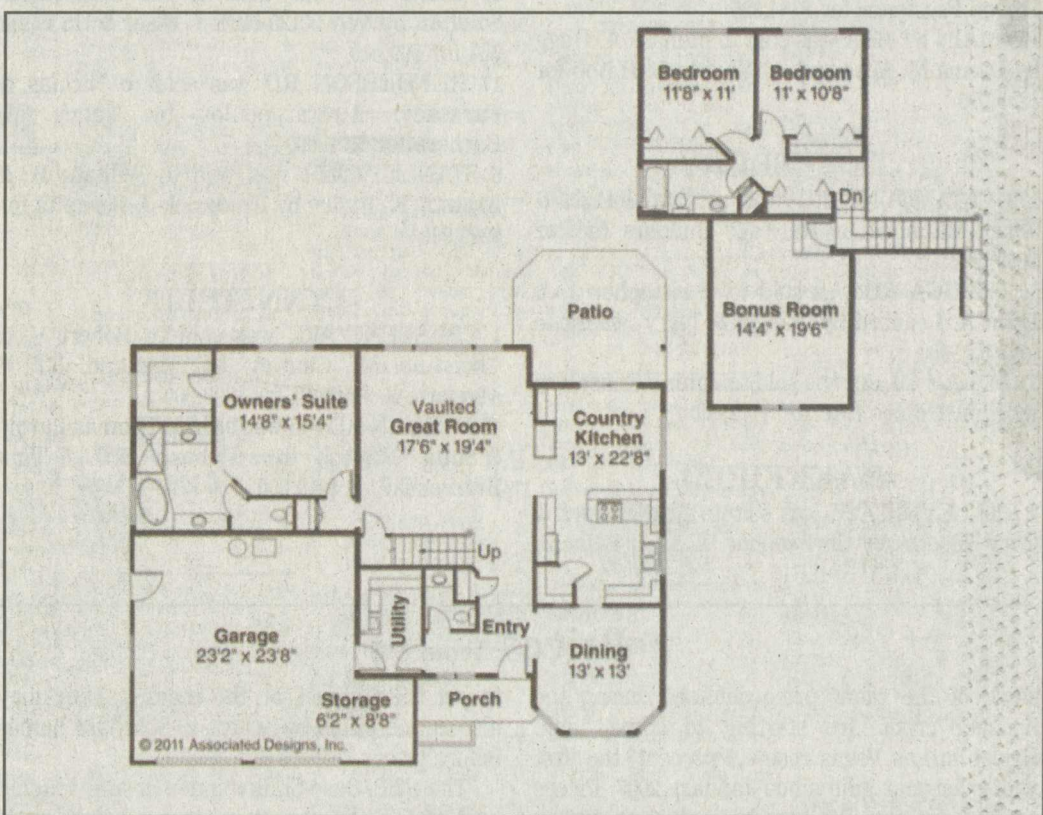

Albany adapts to growing family

Spacious and bright, the Albany is a midsize home designed to meet the needs of a growing family. The unfinished bonus room over the garage offers space for expansion, should you need a fourth bedroom. Or you can outfit it as a home office, a hobby room or whatever suits your needs.

A vaulted great room is at the heart of the home. This large, naturally illuminated area is spacious enough to accommodate a couple of couches, an easy chair or two, and a home entertainment center. Maybe even a desk for the family computer. The second floor landing is open, so from this vantage point you can watch the goings-on below.

Cupboard and counter space in the country kitchen is more than ample. It wraps around four sides and includes a step-in pantry. In the nook, an alcove near the sliding glass doors could serve as a desk.

You'll never feel shut in, working in this kitchen. Standing at the kitchen sink, you can gaze out a window. Range and oven are just a few steps away and the view there is even better. You can look across the eating bar, into the nook, out through the sliding

US home prices rise in August at faster pace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Home prices rose in August in nearly all U.S. cities, and many of the markets hit hardest during the crisis are starting to show sustained gains. The increases are the latest evidence of a steady housing recovery.

The Standard & Poor's/Case Shiller index reported Tuesday that national home prices increased 2 percent in August compared with the same month a year ago. That's the third straight increase and a faster pace than in July.

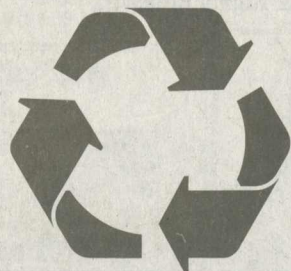

The report also said that prices rose in August from July in 19 of the 20 cities tracked by the index. Prices had risen in all 20 cities in the previous three months.
